MOTION IN SENATE TO HAVE NOTES TO MEXICO PUBLISHED

Norris Offers Resolution to Ask Secretary Kellogg if Other Government Has Objected.

SEEKS TO AIR ROW
OVER NEW LAND LAW

State Department Gives Impression It Favors Publicity, but This Is Disputed Elsewhere.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The controversy between the State Department and the Government of Mexico over the Mexican land and petroleum acts reached the Senate today. Senator Norris (Rep.) of Nebraska introduced a resolution requesting the State Department to inform the Senate whether the Mexican Government had objected to publication of the notes which have been exchanged on the subject and if so, on what ground it objected.

Norris' action is more significant than may appear on its face. It actually is the beginning of an effort to bring the whole dispute into the open, and to end the secrecy which has surrounded the diplomatic discussion. This effort has the hearty support of Senator Borah (Rep.) of Idaho, Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, and, therefore, the resolution is very likely to pass, but before it can pass there may be developments either at the State Department or at Mexico City which will serve the same purpose.

Senators Want Case Aired.
Borah, Norris and a number of other Senators have been restive under the secrecy with which the Mexican correspondence was carried on, and their restiveness has increased as it became obvious that the controversy was reaching serious proportions. Hence their determination to have the whole business out into the light.

The immediate cause of the resolution, Norris said, was an article published in the Sunday Post-Dispatch of Feb. 7, which, after stating the issues and reviewing the history of the controversy, concluded with this statement: "An effort has been made at the State Department to give the impression that Secretary Kellogg wants the entire correspondence published, but has been unable to get the consent of the Mexican Government. In Mexican quarters the writer was bluntly informed that this proposal had come from the Mexican Government, and had not been accepted by the State Department. The plain and ugly truth is that somebody high in authority is misrepresenting the case. It will not be surprising if a resolution is shortly introduced in the Senate to discover which side it is."

Text of Resolution.
The resolution which Norris introduced today declares that: "Whereas, there appears to be a serious dispute between the Governments of the United States and Mexico, in which it is claimed that certain statutes of the Mexican Government conflict with the rights of American citizens who have purchased oil lands in Mexico prior to the enactment of the said statutes, and whereas the American people are ignorant of the issues involved, and whereas full publicity is desirable, and whereas, it has been stated in the press that the State Department is endeavoring to make the official correspondence public, and that the Mexican Government has objected to such publicity."

"Be it resolved, that if not incompatible with the public interest, the Secretary of State be requested to inform the Senate whether the Mexican Government has objected, and is objecting to the publication of all official correspondence pertaining to the dispute, and if it has objected, what reason it has assigned."

Other Purposes of Move.
It is designed further to result in making the notes public to obtain a popular judgment on the merits of the issue, and it is designed finally to destroy any possibility that our State Department may involve the country in a grave crisis without permitting anybody to know what it is doing until crisis is precipitated.

The fact is that while the Nor-

DENIES RIGHT OF SENATE TO TACKLE ALUMINUM CASE

Minority of Senate Body Submits Report Saying Inquiry Would Infringe Executive Functions.

HOLDS GOVERNMENT'S FATE AT STAKE

Point Made That Justice Department Investigated Company and Found No Ground for Action.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—After full investigation, the Department of Justice has reached the conclusion that contempt proceedings against the Aluminum Co. of America cannot by any possibility be successfully maintained.

The announcement was made today by Chairman Cummings of the Senate Judiciary Committee, in a minority report opposing the Senate investigation as to whether the aluminum company, in which Secretary Mellon is a large stockholder, has violated Federal Court decrees of 1912.

Senator Cummings said the department was "in possession of all the information known or believed to exist, including not only everything that was available to the Federal Trade Commission, but also many items of information not submitted to the commission."

Available source of information, Senator Cummings said, "the department has reached the conclusion that contempt proceedings cannot by any possibility be successfully maintained."

Challenges Right of Inquiry. In view of this finding Senator Cummings challenged the legal right of the Senate to make a further investigation.

"It is the judgment of the minority of the committee," the report added, "that there is no constitutional authority for the resolution (of investigation) recommended in the majority report, and that if the course indicated in the proposed resolution becomes the settled practice of the Senate, the overthrow of our form of government is the certain result."

"The struggle which must ensue will end either in the complete subordination of the executive or judicial branches of the government to the legislative branch or in subjecting the legislative power to the executive power. Stripping the proposal to enter upon this inquiry of everything save its bare essentials, it means just this: no more and no less."

"The Senate, because it doubts the conclusion reached by the Department of Justice, is to try the Aluminum Company for the alleged violations of the decrees. It finds the defendant guilty, it will then set about discovering a lawyer who holds the Senate opinion and direct the President to employ him."

"We deny the right or power of the Senate to try this case. We deny the jurisdiction of the Senate or any committee of the Senate to summon and hear witnesses upon the issue of a violation of this decree."

The question whether the Senate is to supplement the Department of Justice and Federal Trade Commission investigations was a special order of business for today. Involved in the controversy is the whole question of the extent to which Senate inquiries are to be ordered in the future.

Test of Strength Coming. Republicans in a party conference yesterday decided that the brakes should be applied on investigations and the Aluminum case will furnish the first test of strength of those who hold the Senate, particularly during the last two years, has far exceeded its rightful functions in the matters of inquiries.

The original inquiry into the Aluminum Co. was ordered by the Senate in 1922. Two years later, in the midst of the last presidential campaign, the Trade Commission held that provisions of the consent decree entered into in 1912 between the Government and the company had been violated. This report was transmitted to the Justice Department, which nearly a year ago started the investigation now concluded.

Walsh Urges Investigation. Proposing a Senate investigation soon after the Senate met, Senator Walsh (Dem.) of Montana reviewed the whole Aluminum case from 1912 up to the present. He said the record showed that the company had a monopoly of the raw material from which aluminum is made.

Coming to the report of the Trade Commission, Walsh declared that since it has been charged that "political bias" is the only foundation for this report he would state that the vote of the commission had been unanimous with two Republicans and two Democrats present.

He quoted former Attorney-General Stone as believing the Aluminum company had violated the

Critic Finds Miss Talley Not So Good, but Still Pretty Good

Has Astonishing Technique, Naturally Fine and Pleasing Voice, but Her Top Notes Are a Little Acid.

By SAMUEL CHOTZENOFF, Music Critic of the New York World.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—"Rigoletto" is not the earliest opera for the debut of a coloratura soprano, and ordinarily one would hesitate to judge the first appearance of a young singer in it. But Miss Marion Talley, whether by reason of her youth or because she is naturally confident, showed no sign of nervousness, not even at her first entrance. She seemed at all times to be perfectly aware of what she was doing and went about the evening's business as cool as a cucumber. In view of this I think I am not taking a chance of a future revision of my opinion by enumerating her qualities from this hearing.

It may be said at once that Miss Talley's voice is not remarkable in the same way as the great coloratura voices have been—Melba's, Tetrazzini's or even Galli-Curci's. Miss Talley's voice is naturally a fine one, pleasing and even beautiful in the middle register, the lower register not yet fully developed, and the top notes clear and brilliant. But these top notes, by which one might say a coloratura singer lives, are a little acid in quality.

Her technique is astonishing for one so young, but it is, I think, immature and often faulty, so that in the manipulation of difficult passages or groups Miss Talley depends more on sheer will power than on knowledge. It is probably this lack of sufficient knowledge of the principles of easy voice production that makes Miss Talley's best vocal feats sound labored. Fortunately, she possesses good musical instincts and her phrasing was generally in excellent taste.

Slightly Off Key. But unfortunately, Miss Talley has a very serious shortcoming, and one which ought to be nipped in the bud; for the Kansas City production sings generally the tiniest bit off key. Unlike most erring singers, Miss Talley does not flat all the time. This was noticeable in the solo passages, but in the concerted numbers it was particularly distressing. The curious part of it is that the very high notes were all ways in tune, especially the D sharp in "In the name of the King."

Miss Talley went through the pantomime required of Gilda creditably for a novice. Most coloratura sopranos, even the very greatest, get along with two gestures; the one in which the hands are outside the body, and the other in which the hands are slightly inclined resting on the hands, used to indicate virtue, maidenly modesty and trust. Miss Talley had been taught these and consequently her acting of the part of Gilda was in the best tradition.

There was the ovation everybody expected; though when Mr. De Luca, by some mistake, appeared alone on the stage, he got an ovation that sounded more genuine than that which Miss Talley received. She had a good debut, everything considered, but I have an idea that she might profitably have postponed the trip of her home-town admirers to New York a couple of years.

mother and father, sister Florence, and John R. Jones, the choirman, who had predicted nine years ago that "She'll make the Metropolitan."

Mayor Beach of Kansas City joined the group. That was only fair, seeing that Marion was the best singer who had ever entered the Metropolitan. She had had the whole of Kansas City for her press agent.

Florence Talley was as happy as if all this had happened to her. One of the girls of the group, she said with a happy smile, "that Marion has at last won fame."

The Missouri delegation formed a line and all shook hands with Marion. She was cool and laughing to the last, still imperturbable. "It is amazing," she said Kahn, looking on from a safe distance. "This is a hard-bolled audience, but Talley was well received. She deserves it."

The reception wound up with presentation of a gold plaque from the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce in true booster style.

Then and there a cloud appeared on the horizon. Harry C. Moore, Nevada, Mo., representative of the Nevada Chamber of Commerce, read a telegram from the Nevada delegation. Marion Talley was born in Nevada, quoth Moore, and Nevada demanded the credit. Nevada was not going to let Kansas City take all the glory. All Kansas City had done was to discover Marion Talley. How would Kansas City have discovered Marion Talley if there had not been an Nevada, Mo. (Population 10,000), for her to be born in?

So Kansas City bowed to Nevada gracefully and everything came out like the last chapter of a fairy tale, with the self-proclaimed Marion Talley taking her excited father, mother and sister off to their apartment, and the watchman coming round to lock the doors behind the Nevada delegation. Marion Talley was making off to their respective hotels with hearts beating high, because the Middle West had "shown New York."

Unidentified Man Found Dead. The body of an unidentified man about 35 years old, was found in a vacant lot at 715 North Sixteenth street at 7:15 a. m. today by Negro residents nearby. There were no marks of violence on the body and an autopsy will be performed to determine the cause of death.

The man was shabbily attired. On Talley's left hand in his inner coat pocket was the name Pete Sta panopole. The coat was sold as a year ago by a Chicago tailor, the label indicated.

Four Curtain Calls Alone. Then Marion Talley took four curtain calls alone, at last the prima donna.

The New York audience, nearly 4000 strong, threaded out into the night, out of the perfumed atmosphere of the high-roofed Metropolitan, away from its crimson and gold, taking their furs and finery and quarts of diamonds and emeralds. But the platoon of 200 faithful from Kansas City were not satisfied. They drank deep from the cup of Marion Talley, and certainly the cup contained enough for all.

The Kansas City delegation went backstage for a reception. Otto H. Kahn shook hands with Gatti-Casazza. Miss Talley, as cool as cracked ice after an emotional strain that would have put most girls of her age into hysterics, posed for about 30 photographs, still and motion pictures. Then she posed in a group with Government Presents Evidence to Federal Panel Here—About Twelve Witnesses to Be Heard.

CHARGE IS MISUSE OF MAIL TO DEFRAUD

H. L. Dyer Special Prosecutor—Super-Grocer Says He Expects to Be "Outraged" by Indictment.

Investigation by the Postoffice Department of the sale of Piggy-Wiggly Corporation stock by Clarence Saunders, the Memphis super-grocer, in an intensive campaign in 1925, is being presented to the Federal grand jury here today in an effort to obtain an indictment charging him with use of the mails to further a scheme to defraud.

Postoffice inspectors declare Saunders caused newspaper advertisements to be published and mailed sales "literature," promising a return of 7 per cent to those who invested in his chain system of self-service groceries. Saunders' spectacular financial collapse that year made the promise unavailing. The investigation is under section 215 of the Federal penal code, covering use of the mails to further a scheme to defraud, a felony.

About 1500 St. Louisans bought Piggy-Wiggly stock. The post-office inquiry resulted in the complaint of some of them, who lost money, about methods pursued by Saunders.

It was expected the grand jury would hear only about 12 witnesses, including some who had invested in the stock, and seven residents of Memphis who were officers or employees associated in the business with Saunders.

John C. Burch a witness. One of these, John C. Burch, now secretary-treasurer of the Piggy-Wiggly Corporation, with whom Saunders had a flat fight Jan. 25 in Memphis when it became known inspectors were making inquiry.

Horace L. Dyer of St. Louis is special prosecutor presenting the case to the grand jury. Saunders published full-page advertisements in Memphis papers last Monday, declaring he "about to be outraged by an indictment in St. Louis," brought about by "some of the Piggy-Wiggly bunch."

Saunders resigned as president of the Piggy-Wiggly Corporation in August, 1925. The previous March it had been reported that he had defeated Wall Street speculators in a struggle over Piggy-Wiggly stock, having raised a $10,000,000 to convert the corporation, of which 40 St. Louisans supplied $1,000,000. The St. Louisans' stock was estimated at $370,000. In return, the New York Stock Exchange struck Piggy-Wiggly from its list and Saunders was defeated instead of victorious.

This caused Saunders to lose control of the company he had founded on the unique idea for customers to help themselves in stores, at a saving of sales costs. His personal fortune diminished and he quarreled with St. Louisans and others who were in the pool with him. He declared he had not profited through the stock trading in New York.

Fled Bankruptcy Plea. He filed a petition in bankruptcy in Memphis two years ago, listing claims of St. Louisans amounting to $183,900. He was relieved of bankruptcy last December and it was announced he was succeeding in the manufacture of new stores at Memphis, which he was shipping over the country to be set up and operated under his "help yourself" scheme.

The Piggy-Wiggly stores in St. Louis now are being run by the independent Missouri-Illinois Stores Co. A new company in which St. Louisans have about $1,200,000 invested, is expected to be formed shortly to take over the Piggy-Wiggly Stores Co., operating 500 stores in 51 cities, and the Piggy-Wiggly Corporation, which owns the store patent. Heads of both companies, including W. C. Connett, vice president of the Liberty Central Trust Co., and vice president of the Piggy-Wiggly Stores Co., conferred about this in New Orleans last month. Saunders is said to have no financial interest in these plans.

KING AND QUEEN BOTH 'BROKE' By the Associated Press. LONDON, Feb. 18.—Even the King and Queen of the world's greatest empire find themselves financially embarrassed sometimes. Their majesties were leaving the British Industries Fair at Shepherd's bush today when a Salvation Army lass appealed to them for contribution to the army's "self defense fund."

The King and Queen looked helplessly at each other. Neither had any money, but both were anxious to give. Members of their entourage quickly solved the difficulty and handsome contributions were forthcoming.

stration law ought to be clarified to prevent such episodes in the future.

The statement announcing the decision of Davis said: "The Department of Labor has affirmed, on appeal, the excluding decision of the Ellis Island Board of Special Inquiry in the case of Vera E. Cathcart."

"This action is based on that part of section 3 of the Immigration act of Feb. 20, 1917, known as the general immigration law, which provides in part as follows:

"That the following classes of aliens shall be excluded from admission into the United States: (1) Persons who have been convicted of a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude."

Exclusion Mandatory. "The alien admitted the commission of such an offense, and since the case, her exclusion is mandatory under the practice of the department, which has prevailed since 1907, when the above provision was added to the general immigration law."

"During the past 19 years, considerable numbers of aliens have been excluded under this provision for the admission of the same offense as in the instant case. Prior to the enactment of the Immigration law of 1924, the Government was obliged to sustain the burden of proof in cases of this nature, but since the act referred to became effective, the burden of proof has been placed on the alien applicant for admission, and in this respect the alien did not produce any evidence to sustain her right to enter."

"It should be explained in considering immigration cases on appeal from boards of special inquiry at ports of arrival that the Secretary of Labor is bound to consider the question involved solely on the evidence submitted before such board and cannot exercise discretion. He can, and in this case has, considered legal arguments based on the law and the record, but he could not consider the extraneous influences from many sources urged for or against the admission of the alien."

Craven Wouldn't Be Amused on Ellis Island, He Says. By the Associated Press. MONTREAL, Feb. 18.—"I have only to say that if it amuses some people to sojourn on a rather isolated little island in midwinter, with the glow of New York so near and yet so far, they are welcome to it," said the Earl of Craven today. The Earl returned here late last night from a hurried visit to Ottawa.

"Personally," he added, "I am a bit of an epicure. Moreover, it pleases me to be able to watch the manipulations of the United States immigration officials from a distance."

The statement was made as a report to the one attributed to the Countess Cathcart, which characterized the Earl's departure from New York to Montreal as a cowardly act.

Judge Sanborn's opinion declared there was no showing that the appeal was frivolous or based on the facts. The defendants, four men and a woman, were not likely to commit similar offenses if admitted to appeal bail, and their character and circumstances are such that they can furnish bonds, which may be expected to secure their presence when wanted.

If these defendants are not given freedom on bond they are likely to be confined in jail for about two-thirds of the time for which they were sentenced, before the propriety of their conviction can be determined on appeal, the opinion continued, and if the conviction should be reversed and the defendants be acquitted on retrial they would have suffered unjustly.

BONDS IN CASE SIMILAR TO JACK DANIEL PLOT

U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals Here Releases Five Persons Pending Ruling on Conviction in Denver.

"OUR DUTY TO RULE FOR PETITIONERS"

Opinion Points Out That Action for Review of Verdict Cannot Be Viewed as Frivolous.

In a case similar to the Jack Daniel whiskey "smuggling" conspiracy, the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit, in session here, today admitted five prohibition defendants to bail while their appeals from conviction at Denver are pending.

To obtain appeal bonds, freeing them from prison, 10 of the Jack Daniel defendants had to send their lawyers before a Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, having been denied that right in the District Court at Indianapolis and by the Court of Appeals of the Seventh Circuit at Chicago.

In the past the Court of Appeals of the Eighth Circuit, which has jurisdiction over Missouri, Colorado and other states, has admitted convicted defendants to appeal bail where it felt there was a serious legal reason for the appeal, rather than the desire to delay imprisonment, but this is the first case in some time in which it has given a written opinion. The appellate tribunal for the Seventh Circuit refused appeal bail to Egan gang members in the Staunton (Ill.) mail robbery case, forcing them to go to prison and making it useless for them to ask the court for the Jack Daniel case.

Judge Sanborn, presiding Justice of the Eighth Circuit, entering the current discussion of this subject, wrote in the opinion, in which his colleagues, Judges Kenyon and Lewis, concurred:

"Our conclusion is that under the Constitution and statutes of the United States and Supreme Court opinions, persons convicted of violating national laws are, during the pendency of writs of error (appeals), entitled to the execution of the fair judicial discretion of Judges to whom they apply for bail, and that in ordinary cases they should not be absolutely compelled to serve parts of their sentence after their conviction is affirmed by the Appellate Court."

leased, on the ground that the Indianapolis court did not have jurisdiction. The granting of permission to file such a writ would remove the case from the Circuit Court of Appeals at Chicago. If such a writ were granted, the Indianapolis sentences would not stand and all the men would be released from prison. This would not prevent their trial in St. Louis.

From St. Louis: Harry Leach, $25,000; Morris Mullin, $25,000; Michael J. Whalen, $25,000; Anthony J. (Tony) Foley, $14,000; Daniel A. O'Neil, $13,000; Robert E. Walker, $13,500; John Connor, $13,500; and Edward J. O'Hara, $10,500.

From Cincinnati—George R. Landon and William Lucking, distillers and capitalists, who were convicted of supplying part of the money to George Remus to loot the distillery, $12,500 bonds each.

Levin, Mullin and Whalen each were sentenced to two years; O'Neil, Walker, Connor and Foley, 15 months; and O'Hara, Landon and Lucking, a year and a day.

In granting bond Justice Butler said his action was based on the condition that the appeals of the men are pushed diligently in the courts.

With Attorney Rows he went to Indianapolis today to get certified copies of the indictment, the verdict, assignment of errors and other necessary papers to prepare the case for the Court of Appeals. They will take them to Chicago and hope to get before the Court Tuesday or Wednesday. The making of bonds will require another day.

Most of the defendants were indicted in the same conspiracy in St. Louis prior to the Indianapolis indictments. Goldstein, Hellmich, Senator Kinney and Fred Essen were not named in the St. Louis indictments.

A new arrest in the case was made last night under a capias in the St. Louis indictments, when Leonard Stone, of 541 Scott avenue, Kirkwood, was taken into custody at his home by a deputy United States Marshal.

Stone gave bond at once before United States Commissioner Atkins at the latter's home. He is a brother of Frank Stone, son-in-law of Senator Kinney, and was not apprehended in time for the trial at Indianapolis. His indictment resulted from the finding of his name among the new directors of the Jack Daniel Co. after Remus had purchased the whisky from Lem Motlow of Lynchburg, Tenn., who also is under indictment with two of his partners.

POWHATAN, O., Feb. 15.—Demanding a further inspection of the workings by State and company inspectors, 600 miners refused today to return to work in the Powhatan Mining Co.'s shaft, where one man was killed and 23 others injured by an explosion Monday. Fewer than 100 men responded to an order to resume operations, which was issued after E. W. Smith, district mine inspector, had pronounced the mine safe. They changed their minds at the pit mouth and refused to go underground.

4 MEN INDICTED FOR ATTACK ON GIRLS IN TIJUANA

Court Rules Against Murder Information Based on Suicide of Petet Family—Three Men Freed.

15-YEAR TERM
MAXIMUM PENALTY
Prisoners Held Without Bail
—U. S. Closes Border Town to Americans
From 6 P. M. to 8 A. M.

By the Associated Press.
SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 15.—Four men have been indicted for the attack on Clyde and Audrey, American girls, in Tijuana, and the American Government has issued an order further to close the border town to American visitors.

Luis M. Anador, proprietor of the Oakland Bar, Refugio Alvarez, bartender; Zenaido Llanos, former Tijuana chief of police, and Francisco Gonzales, former policeman, were those indicted yesterday. The first three are charged with attacking the girls, while Gonzales was indicted for concealing the crime. Three others were freed.

While the order from the American Treasury Department yesterday closing the border from 6 p. m. to 8 a. m. cast a gloom over the streets of Tijuana, the more prominent business men and officials declared that the order would mean a more rapid growth for Tijuana.

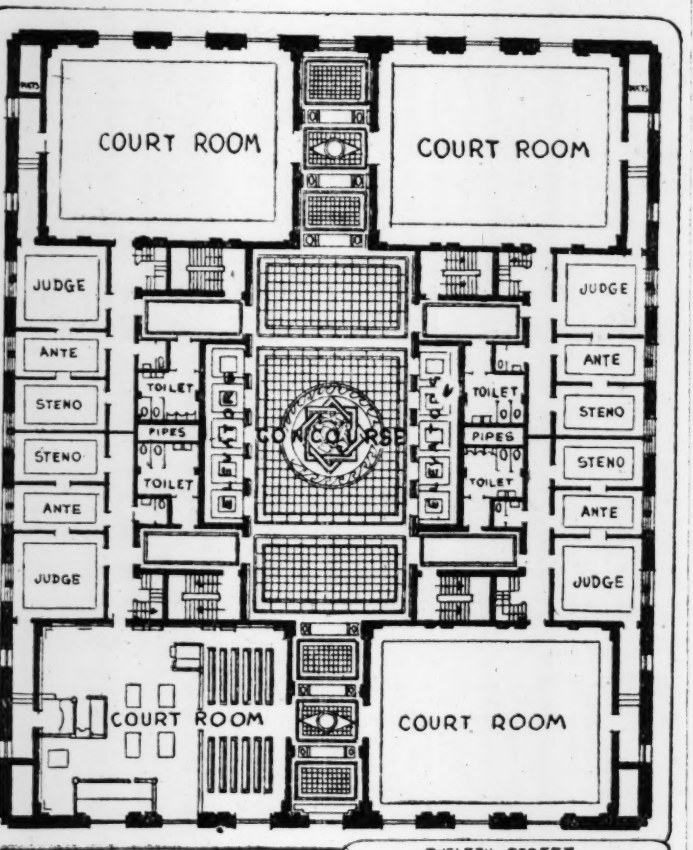

It was declared that with the early closing order in effect, Tijuana would have its own hotels and general business concerns and that it would begin an independent existence.

Bank Is Organized.
A bank, the First National Bank of Tijuana, already has been organized. Plans for a large tourist hotel under strict management are being under discussion and the action of the Treasury Department is said, will expedite this project as well as the establishment in Tijuana of stores which will be worth the tourists' visit to the city without regard to border restrictions.

Reports in Tijuana last night that the Mexican Government would retaliate by enforcing a close order that would bar entry to Mexico at noon were not confirmed. Trial for the four men indicted will come before Federal Judge S. Urias and a jury of nine, will not be held for several days, officials said. Conviction on the charges would carry a maximum prison sentence of 15 years. The prosecution will ask for full penalty.

Detailed Plans for New Courthouse

This plan is typical of those for six main courtroom floors of the new $4,000,000 courthouse, design of which was made public Tuesday. Each of these floors will hold four divisions of Circuit Court. Each division will be an independent unit, reached from a central elevator lobby, and the public will be barred from the sections holding the judges' chambers. Above these sections in each instance, reached by the staircases shown, will be the isolated jury and witness rooms, on mezzanine floors. The courtrooms will measure 40x33 feet, 20 feet high.

MOTION IN SENATE TO HAVE NOTES TO MEXICO PUBLISHED

The resolution assumed an attitude of careful propriety toward the State Department, which is a member of Congress who are highly suspicious of the manner in which Secretary Kellogg has conducted the discussion. In fact, several of them suspect that the desire for secrecy is more pronounced on this side of the Rio Grande than it is below the river. As has been told, the dispute grew out of two laws enacted by the Mexican Assembly in December, governing the conditions under which Mexicans and aliens can acquire lands and mineral concessions in Mexico. Secretary Kellogg immediately dispatched a note protesting that the laws were confiscatory and retroactive, and would result in injury to American citizens who previously had acquired property rights there. The Mexican Government denies this contention.

Doherty and Standard Oil.
Chief among these rights are the oil lands acquired by large American companies, the two largest holders being Standard Oil and E. L. Doherty. There also is a large interest in silver and copper mines and in ranch property. Some of these corporations have for years been urging American intervention in Mexico, for the purpose of protecting their claims and holdings.

dead and a sister is missing. The father, John, was in the mine and was among the rescue workers, that after six hours of effort extracted the two surviving members of his family.
While the rescue work was in progress, Dr. F. E. Straup, county physician, and Mayor of Bingham, called an emergency meeting of the town board to take action toward relieving the suffering of the homeless.
There will be no inquest, nor will there be any official investigation, authorities said.
Two previous snow slides in Sap Gulch took toll of three lives. One of these was in 1899, the other about six years ago.
Fearing that another slide might occur, Superintendent Wardlaw detailed two squads of men to patrol Sap Gulch, adjoining Sap Gulch. The men are instructed to fire three warning volleys if the snow begins to move.

CHOKES COYOTE WITH HANDS Nebraska and Companion Were Attacked by Frenzied Beast.

By the Associated Press.
LAKESIDE, Neb., Feb. 15.—A famished coyote paid with its life when it attacked Joe Possa and a woman companion. Possa choked it to death.
For some time the coyotes, driven to boldness because heavy snow has made their food supply scarce, have been annoying ranchers and molesting foot travelers. Possa said the animal leaped at his companion, scratching her. When its teeth became enmeshed in the woman's dress, Possa grabbed it about the neck. The dead coyote, on display here, weighs 50 pounds.

FRICKER'S CONVICTION UPHELD, HE MUST HANG

Illinois Supreme Court Sets Execution for April 16 at Edwardsville.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 15.—Emil Fricker, Madison County farmer, must hang for the murder of John Nungesser, the Supreme Court held today in affirming Fricker's conviction. The date for the execution was set for April 16 at Edwardsville, where Fricker was tried and convicted last March.
Testimony in Fricker's trial brought out that he had lived in a common law relation with Nungesser's wife before her marriage to Nungesser. Witnesses testified that Fricker was heard to remark several times that he wanted Mrs. Nungesser to return to him. The State's Attorney used this testimony to establish a motive for the murder, along with allegations made by Elmo Wernli and Jacob Landert, two neighbors of Nungesser who confessed to complicity in the murder and were sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary.

The defense, in its brief to the Supreme Court, held that Fricker's relations with Nungesser's wife prejudiced the jury and had no bearing on the case. The brief also contended that distorted newspaper accounts added to the prejudice.
Fricker, Wernli and Landert were indicted for the murder in the May term of the Circuit Court of Madison County. The pleas of guilty of Wernli and Landert were followed by Fricker's trial in January, 1925, at which a hung jury caused an order for retrial. He was again indicted and tried at the close of a second trial in March.

VALLEY STATES' BRIEF ARGUES FOR DISMISSAL OF LAKE SUIT

Missouri, Tennessee, Kentucky and Louisiana Hold Water Diversion Is Legal.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The Attorneys-General of Missouri, Tennessee, Kentucky and Louisiana, who are highly suspicious of the manner in which Secretary Kellogg has conducted the discussion, in fact, several of them suspect that the desire for secrecy is more pronounced on this side of the Rio Grande than it is below the river. The Mexican Government denies this contention.

The Mississippi valley states contended that when the case against the sanitary district brought by the Federal Government was decided by the Supreme Court, the court had held that permission for the states to divert water from the lake states to question it was equivalent to asking the court to usurp the powers and functions which it had held to be vested in Congress.

SUIT AGAINST TOWER OIL CO. TO COLLECT STATE TAX

Action Believed to Be First of Series to Be Filed Against Concern.

A suit, thought to be the first of a number of such suits, was filed by the State Treasurer today against E. P. Zumwinkle, doing business as the Tower Oil Co., for tax and penalties on gasoline sold since the State tax of 2 cents a gallon went into legal effect a year ago.
The suit alleges that the Tower Oil Co. has failed to make the reports required by law upon its gasoline sales, or to pay the tax, except that it paid the tax on some gasoline sold in original packages last summer.
The amount claimed from the concern, including penalties, is $12,048.12.

BOOTLEGGERS BETRAYED BY THE SQUEALS OF HIS PIGS

Used to Sample Stock, Their Noise Annoyed Neighbors and Dry Agents Make Seizure.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The squeals of a dozen guinea pigs used by their owner to sample liquor in the rear of his grocery, led to the undoing of Rudolph Gelb, who must appear in Federal Court today to answer charges of possessing liquor.
It was Gelb's custom, according to agents who raided the grocery yesterday, first to try out his hooch on his litter of pigs. If the pigs lived and prospered, the liquor was good.
It was so good the pigs squealed their delight, and it was these squeals which caused a neighbor of Gelb to complain to Administrator Foster who sent three agents to find what all the noise was about.
The agents led the owner to a vacant apartment in the house adjoining the store, where they seized eight five-gallon cans of alleged alcohol and considerable whisky.

The shock also was felt at Carpinteria and Ventura. The shock was not sufficient here to throw down any of the walls cracked by the quake of June 29, although quite sharp. Children were marched out of schools, but there was no minor damage of panic.

MAN KILLED BY ROBBERS, SON SLAIN GOING TO AID

Tennessee Grocer and Youth Lose Lives Besides—Old Assaultant Wounded.

By the Associated Press.
KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 15.—Henry P. McMillan, 60 years old, a grocer, and his son, Carl McMillan, 18, are dead, as a result of robbing robbers who invaded their store in the business district last night.
The elder McMillan died this morning in a hospital. Carl McMillan died avenging his father. When one of the gunmen shot the father down, the youth sprang upon him at the door of the store, grappled and seized his pistol. He chased the two into the street, wounded his father's slayer, then fell mortally wounded.
A man hunt is on in East Tennessee today. The robbers are believed to be the same who last night held up the Shackelford T & Co., near the McMillan store.

William Robertshaw Taken to Hospital With Fractured Skull After Encounter.

William Robertshaw, 37 years old, a fireman, is in the city hospital today on condition of a City Hospital suffering from skull fracture and lacerations of the head and body, inflicted by Charles Koch, 39, egg candier, at the latter's home, 2568 Cook avenue, where Robertshaw was a roomer for five years.
Koch and his wife, Bertha, told police that Robertshaw came home intoxicated Tuesday afternoon and abused her. When she ordered him out, he refused to leave and with his fists tore her clothes and finally ran out, they declared.
Robertshaw called for his trunk early yesterday. Koch telephoned the police as he entered, and then confronted the roomer. According to the Kochs, Robertshaw struck the husband with his fist and a fight started.
Robertshaw denied the accusations, and cross charges of peace officers were entered against the men.

MOVED TO GARAGE WHEN ROOMMATE GOT MARRIED

Man, Overcome by Fumes From Auto, Says There Was Nothing to Do but Get Out.

Jack Costello's roommate brought home a bride Tuesday night. Costello told a policeman who asked why he slept in the garage behind 4561 Westminster place, where he was found unconscious at 9 a. m. yesterday.
There was nothing for him to do but get out, said Costello, so he went to his garage, set his engine running, turned up his collar and curled up on the seat.
The policeman heard the engine and entered the garage. He carried Costello to an alley, where the cool morning air revived him. It was not established whether he had been affected by carbon monoxide fumes or suffocated by the burning oil.

DRY CHIEF FAVORS U. S. WHISKY CONTROL

Andrews Says Survey of Stocks Is Under Way—Mellon Opposes Government Purchase.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Although Secretary Mellon is opposed to the idea, Assistant Secretary Andrews announced today that a survey of whisky stocks was being made, at the suggestion of members of Congress, to determine the effect of having the Government take over the existing supply.
Mellon's idea is that the proposal would violate the principle of keeping the Government out of business, but the Assistant Secretary, who has charge of prohibition enforcement, expressed the belief that leakage of liquor into bootleg channels would be stopped if it were under Government control.

He added that the Government, by taking over the entire medicinal stock, would know the exact quantity within the confines of the United States and could take steps at the proper time to manufacture additional quantities at least five years before it was needed.
Andrews expressed the belief that a commission to study prohibition effects, such as has been proposed in the House, should be able to supply advantageous facts as to the success of the law. Foreign nations frequently have asked for information as to the results of "our sociological experiment," he said, and the Treasury has been "embarrassed" in that it could not answer those inquiries with any degree of accuracy.

300,000 COMMISSION FOR TWO ST. LOUISANS IN SALE

Details of Transfer of Outer Chicago Belt Railroad in 1921 Disclosed at U. S. Hearing Here.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The details of the transfer of the Outer Chicago Belt Railroad, a Chicago outer-belt line, to the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad, now in receivership, in which two St. Louisans were paid a commission of 10 per cent, amounting to a total of $300,000 in bonds, was described in a two-day hearing before Fred L. Cox of the Interstate Commerce Commission at Hotel Jefferson, which closed yesterday.
N. A. McMillan, chairman of the board of the First National Bank, related that in the purchase of the property on Dec. 31, 1921, the commission was allowed Sam L. Pryor, former director of the St. Louis Union Trust Co., and Benjamin L. Winchell, vice president of the Pierce Oil Corporation and former president of the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad.
A. T. Perkins, now general manager for the receiver of the United Railways and prior thereto president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, related that the physical description of the property, which, approximately 135 miles long, runs from Delmar, Ill., through Moline, Manhattan to Joliet, and thence from Aurora, a gap of about 22 miles, to Rockford, Ill.

EARLY AGREEMENT ON TAX BILL FORECAST

Conferees, However, Fail To Reach Compromise After Two-Hour Session.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Predictions of an early agreement on differences between the Senate and House on tax reduction were made after another two hours' session today of the conferees on the revenue bill.

Both the Senate and House conferees held separate meetings before going into another conference, but at its conclusion, it was said no compromise had yet been reached.

The difference between the two houses as to how much the tax reduction shall be totals approximately $125,000,000. The Senate proposals for reduction running much higher than the bill approved by the House.

House conferees were determined to have restored to the bill the inheritance tax eliminated by the Senate and are expected to win. Senate conferees are expected to obtain their provision for greater reductions than voted by the House in the surtax rates applying on incomes between $24,000 and $100,000.

The Senate is expected to yield on its proposals to repeal entirely the taxes on automobiles and admissions in favor of reductions in these rates from the present level.

BAY STATE KILLS WET BILL

By the Associated Press.
BOSTON, Feb. 15.—The Massachusetts House of Representatives has refused to adopt a resolution of Senator John W. McCormack that Congress be memorialized in favor of the manufacture, sale, transportation and distribution of light wines and beer. The vote was 131 to 64.

The State Senate took similar action a few days ago.

DEPRECIATION CLAIM OF LACLEDE GAS CO.

Theory on Which It Is Placed at Only $700,000 Assailed
by City Counselor.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 13.—
The eighth day of the hearing on the Laclede Gas Light Co. valuation before the Public Service Commission was consumed by James E. Allison, consulting engineer, in an exposition of his theory of depreciation by which he reckons only $700,000 depreciation for his $10,000,000 reproduction valuation to indicate present condition of the property.

The commission's engineers have subtracted more than $4,000,000 from its reproduction figure to indicate the present condition.

Allison asserts that property that is useful to the company in its service to the company should not be depreciated but should be valued at its new cost.

City Counselor Muench peppered the theory with ridicule throughout the day. He brought out that in 1920 Allison had depreciated the property more than $2,000,000. "It was a mistake," Allison declared.
He since has evolved his new theory which contradicts the straight line method employed by many state commissions and supported by courts.

FIRE DESTROYS BENACRE HALL
By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—Benacre Hall, at Wangford, Suffolk, the ancestral home of Sir Thomas Gooch, was destroyed Tuesday night by fire, which compelled the household to make a hurried escape. Art treasures in the building were saved.

Benacre Hall is the fourth famous residence of the English nobility to be burned in the last two months.

Motorbus Franchise Extended.

The Illinois State Commerce Commission yesterday granted an extension of franchise to the Red Line Motorbus Co., operated jointly by the East St. Louis and Suburban Railway, permitting them to receive and discharge passengers between St. Louis and Collinsville, Ill. The company has held a franchise since last March, and also operated through buses from St. Louis to Greenville, but these were not allowed to make local stops.

JACK DANIEL BAIL DECISION BASED ON JUDGES' REPORT

Justice Butler Cites Finding of Senior Circuit Jurists That Conspiracy Act Has Been Abused.

"APPEAL SOUND ONE, NOT MADE FOR DELAY"

Opinion Declares Government Counsel Made No Showing of Fear Defendants Would Flee.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
28-23 Wynn Bldg.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Associate Justice Butler of the Supreme Court of the United States, in a 19-page opinion accompanying his order yesterday to the Court of Appeals of the Seventh Judicial Circuit to release 10 defendants in the Jack Daniel conspiracy case under supersedeas bonds, cited the findings of the conference of senior Circuit Judges last June regarding the use of the "conspiracy clause" in the prohibition act.

He quoted the following portion of the senior Judges' report: "We note the prevalent use of the conspiracy indictment for converting a joint misdemeanor into a felony and we express our conviction that both for this purpose and for the purpose—at least with the effect of bringing in much more evidence, the conspiracy statute is much abused. "Although in a particular case there may be no preconceived plan, excepting that necessarily inherent in mere joint action, it is difficult to exclude that situation from the established definitions of conspiracy; yet the theory which permits us to call that aborted plan a greater offense than the completed crime supposes a serious and substantially continued group scheme for co-operative law-breaking.

"We observe so many conspiracy prosecutions which do not have this substantial base that we fear the creation of a general impression very harmful to law enforcement, that this method of prosecution is used arbitrarily and harshly. Further, the rules in conspiracy make them most difficult to try without prejudice to an innocent defendant.

"We think it proper to bring this matter to the attention of the District Judges, with the request that they present it to the District Attorneys, and for us to bring it also to the attention of the Attorney-General, with the suggestion he call it to the attention of the District Attorneys, as in his judgment may be proper, and all to the end that this form of indictment be hereafter not adopted hastily but only after a careful conclusion that the public interest so requires, and to the end that transformation of a misdemeanor should not be thus accompanied unless the propriety thereof appears.

"We also think it proper to bring this subject matter to the attention of Congress, that it may be considered whether any change of the law in this respect is desirable.

Bills seeking to remedy this condition have been introduced in Congress by Senators Reed of Missouri and King of Utah.

Decision for Petitioners.
In his review of the arguments for the eight St. Louis and two Cincinnati defendants which he heard in his chambers Feb. 2, Justice Butler stated that he appeals for a new trial and for bail were made in good faith and not merely for delay.

The St. Louisans—Harry Levin, Morris Multin, Michael Whalen, Daniel O'Neil, Robert Walker, John Connor, Anthony (Tony) Foley and Edward O'Hare—were represented by Attorneys Charles A. Houts and Thomas J. Rowe of St. Louis. The Cincinnati defendants, George R. Landon and William Lucking, were represented by Levi Cooke of Washington, Moses B. Lairy and A. Julius Freiberg of Cincinnati.

The Government was represented by District Attorney Albert Ward, prosecutor of the case at Indianapolis, who will also direct the charges at the new trial in Chicago, and Howard T. Jones, special assistant Attorney-General.

The St. Louis attorneys at the hearing before Justice Butler challenged the jurisdiction of Judge Raitzel's court, denied the competency of several of the witnesses and the admissibility of the evidence, and stated that the Judge overstepped the bounds of judicial ethics in his charge to the jury.

The counsel for the Cincinnati defendants, who were charged with supplying George Remus with $50,000 with which to finance the "milk" of the Jack Daniel distillery, contended they did not know what use Remus would make of the money.

Comment on Arguments.
Commenting on these arguments, Butler said: "It is not for the advantage of cussed the law or facts which are to be considered on the writs of error (upon which new trials are granted). The questions raised appear at least sufficiently substantial and doubtful to justify and require argument on the part of the United States. It does not appear that these applicants seek review, not with the hope of

JACK DANIEL BAIL DECISION BASED ON JUDGES' REPORT

new trial, but on frivolous grounds merely for delay."
The St. Louis attorneys asked for the release of defendants serving sentences ranging from a year and a day to two years, some of whom will be eligible for parole in April under the one-third of sentence provision. Application was not entered for them to Circuit Judges Anderson and Page in Chicago when a bond appeal was made for Nat Goldstein, former Circuit Clerk, and Arnold J. Heilmich, former Collector of Internal Revenue. Such an appeal was made for Landon and Lucking.

Attorneys Ward and Jones had emphasized in their arguments that Judge Bartzell and Judges Anderson and Page had denied the application. Justice Butler took cognizance of their arguments, but denied their conclusion by saying:

"The attorneys for the United States earnestly emphasized the denial of bail by the trial judges and two Circuit Judges. While these denials are to be considered thoughtfully, they do not relieve from the duty imposed by the statute to consider the applications in the light of all circumstances and by the just exercise of discretion to determine whether the ends of justice require that applicants should suffer imprisonment in the penitentiary pending the determination of their writs of error in the Appellate Court.

"No Hint Flight Is Feared."
There is nothing to indicate that these defendants cannot be secured by reasonable bail. No danger of flight is suggested. The applicants have caused no delay, and nothing appears to indicate any purpose not to proceed with diligence. Moreover, the granting of bail may be on such terms as to insure against the dangers adverted to in similar cases."

Special Assistant Attorney-General Jones said today that so far as the granting of bail was concerned the case was closed. The Government's next step will be to prepare for the trial in the Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago.

Justice Butler's conclusions.
Justice Butler's conclusions in his opinion were as follows:
"The United States cities and relief upon the rules to District Judges by the conference of the Senior Circuit Judges, held in June, 1925, upon the call of the Chief Justice of the United States, under the act of Sept. 6, 1922:

"B. The right to bail before conviction is secured by the Constitution to those charged with the violation of the criminal laws of the United States. The right to bail after conviction by a court or a Judge of first instance or in an intermediate court or Judge thereof is not a matter of constitutional right. The acts of Congress make provision for allowance of bail after conviction by courts and Judges to release the convicted defendant upon the exercise of their judicial discretion, having in mind the purpose of the Federal statutes not to subject to punishment anyone until he has been finally adjudged guilty in the court of last resort. But the judicial discretion of the Federal courts and Judges in granting or withholding bail after conviction should be exercised to discourage review sought, not with hope of new trial, but on frivolous grounds merely for delay. Application for bail should be made to the trial judge in the first instance."

Basis of Ruling.
"That statement will be taken as a guide in this case. It will be observed that the character of the crime charged or probable guilt or innocence is not suggested as having any bearing. The statement shows that the trial and conviction, according to law should precede punishment. It reflects the purpose of the Federal statutes and the rules of court above cited that no one shall be required to suffer imprisonment for crime before the determination of his case in the court of last resort. And it adopts the substance of the rule laid down by the Supreme Court in Hudson vs.
Parker.

"It cannot be doubted that,
where one convicted seeks a review in a higher court and is advised by reputable counsel, acting in good faith in the proper discharge of professional duties, that in law there are valid grounds on which reversal may be expected, judicial discretion should be exercised to enable him to have his case determined speedily and without interference of punishment in advance of final judgment against him. The admonition of the senior Circuit Judges applies only to cases where Judges applies only to cases where a review is sought, not with the hope of a new trial, but on frivolous grounds, merely for delay." And it is not suggested that, where the trial Judge has denied bail, his actions should be the guide to be followed by the Circuit Judges or the Circuit Justice. Obviously it is the duty of each Judge to whom application is made to exercise his own judgment in view of all the circumstances, including the denial, if any, of the earlier applications.

Appeals Must Be Sound.
"Every reasonable effort should be made to avoid delay, and appeals on frivolous grounds should be dealt with summarily. Courts and judges may do much to discourage them by appropriate exercise of their discretion in granting or withholding bail, as suggested by the conference of senior Circuit Judges."

"Least injury to Government and justice to litigants result from rulings made with the intention of advancing order and public welfare, such discretion should be exercised within established lines.
The proper exercise of judicial discretion is never arbitrary, fanciful or capricious. It is deliberate and reasonable and the law

applicable to the cases under consideration. Abhorrence, however, great, of persistent and menacing crime will not excuse transgression in the courts of the legal rights of the worst offenders. The granting or withholding of bail is not a matter of mere grace or favor. If these writs of error were taken merely for delay, bail should be refused; but if taken in good faith on grounds not frivolous, but fairly debatable in view of the decisions of the Supreme Court, then petitioners should be admitted to bail.

Use of Conspiracy Statute.
"In order to determine whether review is sought on frivolous grounds merely for delay, consideration has been given to the character of the case, the trial and the assignments of error. Experience shows that such cases as this are difficult to try, and that, because of the character of the accusation and the number of defendants involved, prejudicial error is more likely to occur than in other cases. The conference of the senior Circuit Judges, June, 1925, pointed out some of the dangers attending the use of the conspiracy statute, under which these petitioners were tried, together with many others.

"These experienced Judges said: 'We note the prevalent use of conspiracy indictments for converting a joint misdemeanor into a felony; and we express our conviction that both for this purpose and for the purpose—or at least with the effect—of bringing in much improper evidence, the conspiracy statute is being much abused.'"

"Although in a particular case there may be no preconceived plan, excepting that necessarily inherent in mere point action, it is difficult to exclude definitions of conspiracy; yet the theory which permits us to call the aborted plan a greater offense than the completed crime supposes a serious and substantially continued group scheme for co-operative law-breaking. We observe so many conspiracy prosecutions which do not have this substantial base that we fear the creation of a general impression, very harmful to law enforcement, that this method of prosecution is used arbitrarily and harshly. Further the rules of evidence in conspiracy cases make them most difficult to try without prejudice to an innocent defendant.

"We think it proper for us to bring this matter to the attention of the district judges, with the request that they present it to the District Attorneys, and for us to bring it also to the attention of the Attorney-General, with the suggestion that he call it to the attention of the District Attorneys, as in his judgment may be proper and all to the end that this form of indictment be hereafter not adopted hastily, but only after a careful conclusion that the public interest so requires, and to the end that transformations of a misdemeanor into a felony should not be thus accomplished unless the propriety thereof clearly appears.

"We also think proper to bring the subject matter to the attention of Congress, that it may consider whether any change of the law in this respect is advisable."

"Appeal Made in Good Faith."
"Thirty-nine persons were defendants, three pleaded guilty, nine were absent, and 27 were put on trial together. The court dismissed the case as to one of them, the jury found three not guilty, and found 23, including the petitioners, guilty."

"The court granted a new trial as to one of those found guilty by the jury. The sentences imposed suggest that culpability varied widely. The sentences varied all the way between two years in the penitentiary and $5000 fine, to 30 days in jail."

"No bill of exceptions has been settled, and no transcript of the proceedings in respect of which errors are assigned has been furnished. If necessary or proper so to do, it would be quite impossible to decide whether the grounds on which review is sought are well taken. But the law does not require applicants for bail to show that they are entitled to a reversal. And it is not the duty of the Judge hearing such application to pass upon the merits of the case. Here, the applicants ground their

WOMAN DRIVER, IN TEARS, DENIES AUTO KILLED MAN

22-Year-Old Freeburg (Ill.) Resident Testifies in Her Own Behalf at Manslaughter Trial.
Miss Marge Bowman, 22 years old, of Freeburg, Ill., wept on the witness stand in Circuit Court at Belleville this afternoon as she denied that her automobile struck John Roth, who was killed on State street, near Sixteenth, in East St. Louis, Oct. 10. She is being tried by a jury on a manslaughter charge.
Miss Bowman repudiated the testimony of several witnesses who said she admitted striking Roth and asserted that a signed admission, submitted in evidence, was incorrect and had been made under pressure of great excitement.
The young woman said she was driving west on State street behind another car which swerved suddenly to the curb to avoid a man who was staggering toward the curb. She, too, swerved toward the curb. Miss Bowman said, and then stopped and looked back. The man was sitting in the street, she said, but she was afraid to investigate because the street was dark and the hour was late.

HOUSE IS TOLD BALTIMORE HAS WIDE-OPEN SALOONS

Charge by Blanton of Texas Denied by Hill of Maryland in Verbal Thrust.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Representative Blanton (Dem.) of Texas said in the House today that there were at least 50 wide open saloons in Baltimore.
Representative Hill (Rep.) of Maryland denied the statement, and Blanton replied that he could take "the gentleman from Maryland to these places."
"How do you know about them?" asked Hill. Blanton said he had been informed there were as many as 200.
"That," said Hill, "was confidential information, furnished for your own use."
Opposing modification of the Volstead act, the Texas member said he could "take the gentleman from Baltimore to his own city and feed him some beer so powerful he couldn't stand up."

That, said Hill, "was confidential information, furnished for your own use."

WOMAN KEPT HUSBAND'S BODY IN ROOM THREE DAYS

Death of Joseph Zielinski, 65, Apparently From Natural Causes; Wife to Hospital.
Responding to a telephone message of a rent collector, who failed to get a response to repeated knocks at the door of 1314 (rear) North Ninth street, police went on that address at 1:30 p. m. today and found the body of Joseph Zielinski, 65 years old, the tenant, lying on a bed.
Zielinski's wife, Anna, 65, was in the room where the body was found. After city hospital physicians had stated that the man had been dead for three or four days, Mrs. Zielinski was taken to the hospital observation ward. She has made no explanation of her failure to report her husband's death, which apparently was from natural causes.

ACCUSED OF INCITING REVOLT Mexican in Texas Charged With Violating Neutrality Laws.

By the Associated Press.
SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 18.—R. Esparrza Martinez, former Secretary of the Mexican Congress, was arraigned this afternoon before R. L. Edwards, U. S. Commissioner, on charges of violating the neutrality laws, after an indictment had been returned him by the Federal grand jury. His bond was set at $2500. He pleaded not guilty.

Martinez, a few weeks ago was declared by Gus Jones, local department of Justice agent, to be a leader of the San Antonio revolutionary junta, which, he said, was organized here last September with the avowed purpose of overthrowing the Calles government of Mexico. Jones said that his evidence, which was presented to the grand jury this week, showed that the alleged revolutionaries planned to dynamite trains in Mexico to show that a revolution had been started, and thereby raise funds for continuing it.

PLANNED DEATH OF HUSBAND Another Kansas City Woman In- volved in Assassination Plot.

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Feb. 18.—Another death plot, the second within a week in which a wife sought the services of a hired assassin to kill her husband, was frustrated here today, a police announcement said.
The husband in the scheme uncovered today was to have met his death by being run over by an automobile, the police said. This method was chosen, it was explained, because the heavy life insurance carried contained clauses calling for additional payments in case of death in an automobile accident. The time set was tonight. The woman in the case is said to be an invalid, as a result of influenza a year ago. She will be arrested and taken to the General Hospital for questioning.

Death of Three Nuns a Mystery.

DICKINSON, N. D., Feb. 18.—The deaths of three sisters at St. Joseph's Hospital, after they had visited a newly-constructed section of the institution freshly wood-stained, still was puzzling authorities today. Physicians, however, expressed the belief that fumes from the stain had paralyzed the respiratory organs of the three who died, and of two others who are seriously ill. At one time it was thought that escaping gas was responsible.

BAR AGAINST PISTOLS FAVORED

House Subcommittee Approves Bills to Exclude Them From Mails.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Bills excluding from the mails pistols, revolvers and literature concerning fraudulent devices and lotteries were approved today by a subcommittee of the House Postoffice Committee. The measures represent a concerted attempt to tighten up postal regulations in an effort to combat fraud and crime.
Exclusion of pistols from the mails has been sought by various organizations for several years on the ground that state antipistol laws will prove ineffective so long as the mails are open to convey such weapons.

DISCUSSION OF ALIEN PROBLEMS IN AMERICA

Immigrant Registration Advocated and Attacked at Columbian Club.

Immigration restriction, and the proposed bills for compelling the registration of all alien inhabitants, were discussed yesterday afternoon at the Columbian Club before an audience of 170 women.

"The United States is the greatest country in the world and the proof of that is that we have to exclude so many thousands of aliens who would like to come here," James Nash, head of the Immigration Service of the Department of Labor for the Missouri district, told his audience. "There are some countries even have waiting lists that it will take 25 years for us to catch up with."

Nash spoke in favor of the registration bills now pending in Congress. He said that this plan worked no indignity on the alien, since the same sort of registration is required of the citizen who wishes to vote.

"Besides providing us with a means of checking up on the families which many of the persons now admitted have deserted in the old country, the bills would give us an instrument whereby we could persuade a larger proportion of the aliens to take out citizenship papers," he added.

Miss Florida Lasker of New York, chairman of the Department of Immigrant Aid of the National Council of Jewish Women, spoke against the registration bills.

"They would mean the Russianizing and Prussianizing of America," Miss Lasker said. "They would institute a system of espionage, totally foreign to our traditions, and start in the United States one of the things we have always prided ourselves on having, unlike European countries, avoided."

Previously, tears had flowed down the cheeks of many of the audience, as Miss Lasker, appealing for aid in the necessary work of Americanization, presented numerous cases in which hardship had been caused to persons excluded by the current Johnson bill of 1924. She read the letter of a Polish woman, who asked Immigration aid officials for information about the fate of her 8-year-old daughter, refused admission on the grounds of feeble-mindedness.

"I am appealing to you," Miss Lasker said, "to favor a modification of the present exclusion law, so as to permit its more elastic and more humane interpretation. It is not the principle of exclusion that we oppose, but the sometimes cruel effects, in individual instances, of its too-rigid application."

UNWITTINGLY VIOLATED LAW FOR MORE THAN HALF CENTURY

Pennsylvania Family Had Retained Reproduction of Civil War Dollar Just Now Seized.

By the Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, Feb. 18.—The family of Charles W. Steckley of Harrisburg, Pa., violated a Federal law for more than a half century without being aware of it. They had possessed, since the war between the states, a reproduction of a Civil War period dollar bill. Eighteen by 22 inches in size, the reproduction had passed from father to son as a family heirloom, had at one time hung on the wall of a Harrisburg clubhouse and had been saved by Steckley's father at the risk of his life when the club burned.

Not until Steckley offered it to the Philadelphia Sesqui-Centennial for exhibition did the secret service become aware of its presence. Then Agent Bart Bratton of the Baltimore District called on Steckley and now the bill is in Baltimore, Government property, with no legal means available to Steckley to recover it. Bratton says it was confiscated under a Federal statute forbidding possession of reproductions of United States currency.

The owner wept when the bill was torn in being folded for him, Bratton said. Steckley told the agent he had refused $2000 for it and contemplated having it insured for $10,000. George Washington is represented in the center of the bill, standing on top of the globe, with Labor in the upper left corner shaking hands with a farmer.

MAN DIES OF GAS POISONING

Tony Ronecky, 46, found unconscious in kitchen of home.
Tony Ronecky, 46 years old, died at City Hospital early today from gas poisoning. He was found unconscious in the kitchen of his home at 826 Mound street by neighbors at 6 p. m. yesterday. A gas plate in the room was turned on but not lighted. Ronecky was thought to have been preparing a meal when overcome. He was a widower and lived in a third-floor flat with his two sons, Tony Jr., 14 years old, and William, 12. The boys were not at home when their father was found.

Bernard MacFadden's Daughter Weds

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Miss Helen MacFadden, daughter of Bernard MacFadden, publisher, and Alexander Markley, editor of several MacFadden publications, were married at the Municipal Building yesterday. Mrs. Markley appeared in the "Follies" last year and once worked part time as a stenographer in her father's office, for $4 a week, explaining she could save money by riding to work in her father's limousine. Markley was former editor of Pearson's Magazine.

This was the decision handed down in divorce proceedings by tribesmen who heard the case against the native of Nulichek, on lower Cook Inlet.
The judges decided that the foregoing constituted a fair share of the increment accruing to a well-regulated, native family, whenever the husband drank up 50 mink skins at $5 per pint, the prevailing price for the brand of vodka juice, fabricated by the manufacturers on the inlet.
The defendant in the case was charged with having terminated his drinking marathon by pitching his squaw into the creek when she chided him.

LIBERALS APPROVE LAND
PLAN OF LLOYD GEORGE"Time Has Arrived for Change in Britain's Active Policy Against Monopoly.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Feb. 18.—The Liberal party, through 1500 delegates to the conference of the Liberal Associations of England and Wales, yesterday gave general approval to David Lloyd George's land scheme.

A resolution unanimously adopted, stated that the time has arrived when a drastic policy for dealing with the land problem should be adopted. The resolution, according to the general principles laid down by Lloyd George's land committee.

The Lloyd George plan, as told in the Post-Dispatch yesterday, provides for a drastic policy for dealing with the land problem through Government control amounting to a monopoly of agricultural lands.

Lloyd George made a plea for unity in arriving at a common agreement on this important plank of the Liberal platform.

"Liberalism will not be bullied by the vested interests," he declared.

The first resolution adopted by the conference declared that the evils of monopoly in land holding could not be redressed without an active policy of land reform. There were considerable divergences of opinion on what shape these reforms should take in detail.

During the discussions, which were confined to propositions concerning urban lands, lively debate developed in regard to the acquisition and taxation of land. Many agreed that the proposed points amounted to socialism. Several of the resolutions, dealing with the land scheme, were carried on only after amendments had been voted down.

Measure Slipped Through Unnoticed at Part of Finance Bill at All-Senate Session.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Feb. 18.—The authorization of a national lottery was a feature of the finance measures adopted by the Chamber of Deputies early Tuesday, having slipped through unnoticed at that time during the strenuous all-night session.

While disputes were going on over the vote on other parts of the financial project, Edouard Herriot, president of the chamber, read the article authorizing the lottery. When he asked if there was any objection to the article, the Deputies engaged all over the house in wordy battles, failed to respond, and he declared it adopted.

The Deputies were surprised when they read that they had voted this measure. If the Senate vote on the Finance Bill, which is to do is to issue a decree to establish a national lottery with weekly or monthly drawings.

PROHIBITION PLEA BEFORE WOMEN'S EXPOSITION HERE

National Head of W. C. T. U. Outlines Plan for Campaign to Elect Dry Candidates to Office.

SUCCESS SETS
PRECEDENT HERE

Banker Calls It "Way Women Do Things," in Telling Guarantors There Will Be No Deficit.

Today's program at the Coliseum, where the Women's Exposition opened Tuesday, will include besides music, addresses by Miss Helen Fraser, noted writer and lecturer; Miss Agnes Regan, acting director of the National School for Social Service at Washington, D. C., and Miss Mary Anderson, director of the Women's Bureau, U. S. Department of Labor.

The Coliseum was thronged until past bedtime last night with crowds that ate, listened, watched, sniffed (some of the livestock on exhibition has been placed near a furnace), chatted and sometimes slept.

Byron W. Moser, president of the Security National Bank, between moments of distributing good-luck pennies and dime banks at the bank's booth, last night announced that the 50 guarantors had already been released from responsibility for the success of the exposition. The position is clear of all debts save current expenses.

The Way Women Do Things.
"There is no local precedent for such a thing," Moser said. "That is the way women do things."

Among the directors of the Security National Bank are two women, Mrs. Elias Michael and Mrs. E. H. Steadman.

The way women do things was also brought out in the address of Mrs. Emma Boole, national president of the W. C. T. U., who outlined the progress of the leadership of the temperance movement since the organization of that society. Mrs. Boole also said some things about what their future program includes.

"We plan an educational campaign to show that America's leadership of the world financially is greatly enhanced by the benefits of prohibition, even under imperfect enforcement," she said.

Plan to Elect "Dry" Candidates.
"We plan a citizenship campaign for the election of dry Governors, dry United States Senators, dry Congressmen, dry Legislators and dry Judges and local officials."

"We plan an aggressive campaign in opposition to the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, which is planning to elect Wet Congressmen in every district now represented by a Dry Congressman."

"We plan a campaign for law observance," President and Mrs. Coolidge have set the standard of law observance in the White House. Bootleg liquor is poison; then let us warn the people against its use. Everyone who buys and sells liquor is helping finance the illegal liquor traffic. Law observance means clearer brains, better health, happier homes, larger bank accounts, better born children. Law observance is patriotic."

Woman Judge Also Speaks.
Judge Mary B. Grossman, Associate Judge of the Municipal Court of Cleveland, O., also spoke.

And if a visitor grows weary straining his ears against the poor acoustics of the vicinity of the speakers' platform, he can watch the pretty if somewhat inconsequent pictures that change every few seconds at the Groller Society's booth, or feast his eyes on the enticing Robinson diamond's glass, or argue the merits of the politics with the women who seek to entice the visitor into signing up at the Democratic or the Republican booths.

Air Mail Schedule Abandoned.
By the Associated Press.
OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 18.—Snow and ice covered the route between Salt Lake City and Chicago. The air mail schedule between Salt Lake City and Chicago was practically abandoned. Over Western Nebraska as much as five inches of snow was reported whirling into drifts, impeding traffic.

George Wood, Manufacturer, Dies.
By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18.—George Wood, a director of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., textile manufacturer and financier, died last night at his home here. He had been a member of the board of directors of the Pennsylvania for 35 years.

"THE INTIMATE PAPERS OF COL. HOUSE"
Col. House Consulting Sir Edward Grey
When Germany Turned Down Peace Offer

Herr Zimmermann Told Ambassador Gerard 500,000 Men Would Start Revolt in America—Central Powers Angry at U. S. Sale of Munitions.

British Army Chief in France

GEN. SIR JOHN FRENCH

Col. House told, in yesterday's chapter, how he completed his arrangements in Washington for a trip to Europe in an attempt to start negotiations to end the war. Through the British Ambassador he received word from Sir Edward Grey that his mission would not be unwelcome.

CHAPTER NINETEEN

Edited by Prof. Charles Seymour, Professor of History, Yale University.
Copyright, 1926, by Edward M. House. All Rights Reserved.
Printed by arrangement with Houghton Mifflin Co. and New York Tribune, Inc.

Nothing illustrates so exactly the President's purpose in sending Col. House abroad as the letter of credentials which he was to carry. In this letter Wilson emphasizes the fact that House was representing not an official attempt at mediation, but merely the desire of the President to serve as a channel for confidential communication through which the belligerent nations might exchange views with regard to the situation upon which the present conflict might be ended and future conflicts rendered less likely.

He disclaimed himself any desire to indicate terms or to play the part of judge, but merely that of the disinterested friend who had nothing at stake except interest in the peace of the world.

Gen French Thought War at Stalemate.

Ambassador Page to Secretary Bryan:
LONDON, Jan. 15, 1915.

I lunched today with Gen. French, who came here secretly for a council of war. He talked, of course, in profound confidence.

He says the military situation is a stalemate. The Germans cannot go to Paris or to Calais. On the other hand, it will take the allies a year, perhaps two years, and an incalculable loss of men, to drive the Germans through Belgium. It would take perhaps four years and an unlimited number of men to invade Germany. He has little confidence in the ability of Russian aid in conquest of Germany. Russia has whipped Austria and will whip Turkey, but she hopes for little more from her.

Speaking only for himself and in the profoundest confidence, he told me of a peace proposal which he said the President, at Germany's request, has submitted to England. He tells me that this proposal is the end of the war on condition that Germany gives up Belgium and pays for its restoration.

French's personal opinion is that England had better have to accept this offer if it should be accompanied with additional offers to satisfy the other allies, such, for example, as the restoration to France of Alsace-Lorraine and the agreement that Russia shall have Constantinople.

Report on German Spy System in U. S.

Ambassador Gerard to the President:
BERLIN, Jan. 24, 1915.

(Enclosure.)
I do not think that the people in America realize how excited the Germans have become on the question of selling munitions of war to Americans. A veritable campaign of hate has been commenced against America and Americans.

Zimmermann showed me a long list, evidently obtained by an effort, of orders placed with American concerns by the Allies. He said that perhaps it was as well to have the whole world against Germany, and that in case of trouble there were 500,000 trained Germans in America who would join the Irish and start a revolution.

I thought at first he was joking. But he was actually serious. The fact that our six army observers are still here in Germany and not sent to the front is a noteworthy indication. Zimmermann's talk was largely ridiculous, and impossible as it seems to us, it would not surprise me to see this mad, delirious in-arms go to lengths however extreme.

Col. House's Expenses.
"Jan. 24, 1915: I left today on the 12:08 for Washington," recorded House. "The President was waiting for me and we immediately began to work and remained at it continuously for more than an hour, delaying dinner 10 or 15 minutes, which is a most unusual thing for the President to do.

"He insisted upon arranging for my expenses abroad and for those of my secretary, Miss Denton. I let him know how trustworthy she was, so he would not think me indiscreet in writing through her about matters of an important and confidential nature. He asked me to tell Sir Edward Grey his entire mind, so he would know what his intentions were about everything.

"He said: 'Let him know that while you are abroad, I expect to act directly through you and to eliminate all intermediaries.'"

"I approved all I had in mind to say to Sir Edward and to the Germans. He said: 'There is not much for us to talk over, for the reason we are both of the same mind and it is not necessary to go into details with you.'"

"I asked if it would be possible for him to come over to Europe in the event a peace conference could be arranged, and in the event he was invited to preside over the conference. He thought it would be well to do this and that the American people would desire it."

"Jan. 25, 1915: I went to Philip's at 10 o'clock to meet the British Ambassador. He seemed pleased that I was holding to my intention to leave on Saturday. I again requested that he arrange with Sir Edward Grey by cable an engagement immediately upon my arrival."

Spring-Rice Talked Optimistically.
The next, absolutely contradicting himself. . . . He warned me that I should probably encounter sentiment in England hostile to my mission, based upon the belief that it was possibly actuated by a desire to help Germany. He said there was a party there which would seize upon any excuse for an early peace and that they resembled the 'Copperheads' of the North during our civil war. I replied that he need not worry about my giving them comfort. . . .

Phillips explained the arrangements he had made for my stay, taking money even for them. I have never been paid by either a State or national Government for my services, and while I am not hereof paid for them now, I have heretofore paid my expenses. I do not feel able to meet the expenses of such a trip as this, and it lifts a load from me to have the Government pay them. It was agreed that $4000 should be placed to my credit at once. I have a feeling this will last for six months.

"It then came to say good-bye. The President's eyes were moist when he said his last words of farewell. He said: 'Your unselfish and intelligent friendship has meant much to me, and he expressed his gratitude again and again, calling me his 'most trusted friend.' He declared I was the only one in all the world to whom he could open his entire mind."

Wilson Takes House to Train.
"I asked if he remembered the first days we met, some three and a half years ago. He replied, 'Yes, but we had known one another all ways, and merely came in touch then, for our purposes and thoughts were as one.' I told him how much he had been to me; how I had tried all my life to find some one with whom I could work out the things I had so deeply at heart, and I had begun to despair, believing my life would be more or less a failure, when he came into it, giving me the opportunity for which I had been longing."

"He insisted upon going to the station with me. He got out of the car and walked through the station and to the ticket office, and then to the train itself, refusing to leave until I entered the car. It is a joy to work for such an appreciative friend."

Col. House to the President:
New York, Jan. 29, 1915.
Good-bye, dear friend, and may God sustain you in all your noble undertakings.

When I think of the things you have done for the things you have in mind to do, my heart stirs with pride and satisfaction.

You are the bravest, wisest leader, the gentlest and most gallant gentleman and the truest friend in all the world. Your devoted and affectionate civilized warfare should in the future be conducted.

In other words, it would merely be the assembling at the Hague and the adopting of rules governing the game. He did not accept this as our full duty, but we passed on to other things. . . .

I am making a point to influence opinion over here favorably to you and to America. There has been a considerable criticism of us, and I was told that at a public meeting the other day, when the name of the United States was mentioned, there was some hissing. I find, though, that intelligent people over here are wholly satisfied with your course. . . . Affectionately yours,
E. M. HOUSE.

Colonel Praises Grey.
In a separate memorandum Col. House noted:

"When we had finished talking Sir Edward smiled and said, 'Here I am helping to direct the affairs of a nation at war, and yet I have been talking for three and a half hours like a neutral.' . . .

"I have many times expressed my high regard for the character of Sir Edward Grey. . . . I wish I could give in detail every word of the conversation, for it was freighted with importance. We discussed at length the question of whether Germany was in earnest about beginning peace parleys. I maintained that she was, and that she was sparring for advantage; that she desired me, to come on Bernstorff's invitation, unsolicited by the government, in order that they might say, in the event negotiations failed, that they had never been a party to them."

Not Ready for Parleys.
"Sir Edward thought the Germans were not ready for parleys, but were fencing for the purpose of getting the Allies at a disadvantage, so that they might say to Ferdinand of Bulgaria and others that the Allies were making overtures for peace. I took the view that, while it was doubtful whether the military party was yet ready for peace, I felt certain the Kaiser and his entourage were."

"I felt that such a course that our government would be willing to join all nations in setting forth clearly the rights of belligerents in the future and agreeing upon rules of warfare that would take away much of the horrors of war as we know it."

League in Peril.
If Great Britain is prepared to sacrifice her disarmament plans at the wishes of the French it is not because Sir Austen Chamberlain is not anxious for disarmament, but because, in the British mind, the future of the league as well as of the Locarno treaties is in immediate peril.

The British stand against the French attempt to pack the committee with new members is not dictated by a high principle, but by a desire to help Germany, as Paris imagines, but by the peril which a league dominated by a Latin bloc would present for Great Britain herself.

British diplomacy, until the end of last week, was fighting against heavy odds, but Japan has thrown her weight into the scales in favor of a small council, and has informed all Powers concerned that she is opposed to further extensions of permanent membership.

Another card for the British Foreign Secretary to play has been furnished by Sweden. The houses of Parliament urging that Government, which now has a temporary seat on the council, to veto any election to the council at the March meeting except that of Germany.

Germany Rejects Belgian Indemnity.
Herr Zimmermann to Col. House.
BERLIN, Feb. 4, 1915.

My Dear Colonel:
I read with interest what you were good enough to write with reference to the desired interchange of opinion. While we are quite ready, as I wrote you before, to do our share to bring about the desired termination of the war, at the same time, there are certain limits which we are unable to overstep.

What you suggest concerning the paying of an indemnity to Belgium seems hardly feasible to me. Our campaign in that country has cost the German nation such infinite sacrifices of human lives that anything in the form of such a decided yielding to the wishes of our opponents would cause the most bitter feeling among our people.

I heard that you are on your way to England at this moment and that a trip to Germany is in view. I shall be most happy to see you, should you carry out your intention, and shall hope for a personal interview more satisfactory than is possible through correspondence by letter.

With kindest regards, I am,
My Dear Colonel,
Sincerely yours,
ZIMMERMANN.

Following the receipt of the Zimmermann note, Col. House, as will be told in Chapter 20, tomorrow, arrived in London, explaining to President Wilson his reasons for delaying and dispatching a new letter to the German Foreign Office. The Texan interviews King George V of England.

Japan Shocks France.
Japan's attitude, it is believed here, came as a great shock to France, and the Swedish stand also helped to convince Premier Briand that the smaller Powers could not be elected to the council next month. France has accordingly informally offered, as a compromise, to elect Germany to the council in March on condition that Spain, Poland and Brazil be elected in September.

To this, the British have staid, they are unalterably opposed, while Germany has solemnly notified all concerned privately, and is prepared to do so publicly, that she will repudiate both her application for league membership and the Locarno treaties if these candidates are pushed further.

The suggested British compromise involves throwing the league disarmament conference indefinitely to please France, provided that France will drop her demand for the election of Brazil and Poland.

BRITAIN FIGHTING AGAINST LATIN
RULE OF LEAGUE

Indications Are That London Is Willing to Scrap Preliminary Meeting on Arms.

THIS MOVE DESIGNED TO PLACATE FRANCE

In Return, Paris Would Withdraw Candidacy of Powers, Except Germany for Permanent Seats.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Rapid and startling diplomatic moves are being made in the crisis of the League of Nations.

Half a dozen European Powers, big and small, are pulling wires, amid growing alarm on the part of friends of the league, about the proposal to pack the council with permanent representatives of Poland, Spain and Brazil as well as Germany.

In the last two days, Great Britain, it is indicated, has agreed to the sabotage of the preliminary disarmament conference at Geneva, to save the league from virtual wreckage through being turned into a predominantly Latin confederation.

The correspondent understands that Great Britain, in order to get France to admit Germany to the council of the league in March and withdraw permanently the candidacy of other small Powers, possibly excepting Spain, for permanent seats in the council, has acceded to the French desire to postpone the league's disarmament meeting indefinitely.

It is admitted here that the session of the preliminary conference, which is now supposed to be held in May, is not likely to take place before September. This admission probably is intended to prepare world opinion for the fact that it will not take place at all in any foreseeable future.

League in Peril.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight for the rights of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

The Countess Cathcart Case.

I APPRECIATE your liberal tendencies in politics and other public questions, and quite frequently encounter real "genius" in your editorial columns. In your column, however, in the editorial "A Vampire Becomes Famous," you have missed the mark. I am sorry to say.

Now let me say right here that I am anything but a "moralist" as this term is generally understood. I have nothing against that "moralist" I do not even believe that her presence here would injure anybody's morals. As a matter of fact, in my estimation, judging from her letter to a London newspaper, she stands morally far higher than many an American "gold digger." And God knows we have plenty of those. But this episode has another significance and it is this: That down deep into the heart of this country is morally sound; our "society" and our movies which serve Europe as the only source of information regarding our body social, to the contrary notwithstanding.

Let me please, congratulate Mr. H. H. Curran, Commissioner of Immigration, for his stand. It was truly a master stroke. I hope the Secretary of Labor approves it. And should it ever fall into the hands of Secretary Kellogg, I hope he'll act accordingly. If he does, I shall forgive all his previous sins. And if it will be carried out, I still have a greater hope that Europe, particularly England and France, will copy our example. The latter would serve this country a double purpose. First, it would save us plenty of disgrace; and second, it would serve as notice on our own "charming ladies" whose business seemingly is the harlotry of husbands and alimonies, that they and the idle, parasitic lives they lead are condemned by the rank and file of the American people.

A BACHELOR.

THE article by Prof. Theodore Graebner in Sunday's Post-Dispatch deserves more than passing notice; it is a classic.

Negro Hospital No. 2

I HAVE noticed that the property owners protest the location of Negro Hospital No. 2 adjacent to the present city hospital, and that is advanced as a reason for locating this hospital at Cottage and St. Ferdinand avenues.

Is it not the most logical thing to have all hospitals under the city administration grouped as a matter of expediency, convenience, economy, administration, ambulance service and the elimination of duplicating facilities, such as heat, power, etc.?

Why is not the protest of the property owners in the vicinity of Cottage and St. Ferdinand avenues, where there is now no hospital, but where churches, schools, playgrounds, just as effective as the protest of property owners surrounding an established hospital site?

This Negro hospital at Cottage and St. Ferdinand avenues will necessitate the moving of a large number of Negro families, who will have to look elsewhere for a location, and as a result the usual big and red of Negro invasion, fomenting discord between the races.

Is there no significance in the fact that a great deal of the desirable property adjacent to the proposed site at Cottage and St. Ferdinand avenues has recently changed hands from one white owner to another, none of them being residents in that locality?

If the City Fathers cannot locate the Negro hospital adjacent to the present city hospital, where it should properly be, there is an ideal site at Sarah and Fairfax avenues, that is in an overwhelmingly Negro district. This location is now occupied by white people who really wish to move, and this site is $100,000 cheaper than the Cottage and St. Ferdinand site, and no Negro families will be required to move out of well established homes.

For reasons stated above, and in the spirit of fairness to the Negroes, this ordinance should be repealed.

JUSTICE BUTLER ON BAIL.

After a minute examination of the law as to the granting of bail after conviction in criminal cases, Associate Justice Butler of the United States Supreme Court has admitted to bail the 10 Jack Daniel prisoners who applied for it. He thus overruled the trial Judge, Baltzell, and the Circuit Judges who denied the plea of the prisoners that they be allowed freedom until their cases were finally adjudged by the higher courts.

Justice Butler's opinion is an illuminating discussion of this phase of the law. It quotes a number of important decisions in previous cases which tend to look favorably upon the granting of bail after conviction unless it is shown that appeal is being made on frivolous grounds and merely for delay. The Justice was unable to find in the present case that the appeal in the Jack Daniel case was not to be prosecuted with due diligence, or that the appeal was not based upon proper grounds.

Justice Butler accepted as a guide in his opinion the pronouncement of the senior Circuit Judges on the question of bail after conviction, mentioned in a Post-Dispatch editorial of Jan. 21 and reading in part as follows:

The right to bail after conviction . . . is not a matter of constitutional right. The acts of Congress make provision for allowance of bail after conviction . . . having in mind the purpose of the Federal statutes not to subject to punishment anyone until he has been finally adjudged guilty in the court of last resort.

Justice Butler has constantly in mind the irreparable injury that might be done to a person to whom bail has been denied and whose case is finally reversed by a higher court after he has been branded with the mark of the penitentiary. He quotes as follows from Garvey vs. the United States:

The theory of the purpose of bail pending appeal is not different from that given before conviction; it is to insure the presence of the accused when wanted to answer the charge, and to make amends to society by serving of the imprisonment imposed. It, of course, insures the innocent against the injustice of an imprisonment in the event of an eventual acquittal of the charge.

Bail after conviction is granted or withheld at the discretion of the Judge, but as to this discretion, Justice Butler said:

The proper exercise of judicial discretion is never arbitrary, fanciful or capricious. It is deliberate and governed by reason and the law applicable to the cases under consideration. ABHORRENCE, HOWEVER GREAT, OF PERSISTENT AND MENACING CRIME WILL NOT EXCUSE TRANSGRESSION IN THE COURTS OF THE LEGAL RIGHTS OF THE WORST OFFENDERS.

As to the Jack Daniel prisoners, Justice Butler held:

There is nothing to indicate that their attendance cannot be secured by reasonable bail. No danger of flight is suggested. The applicants have caused no delay, and nothing appears to indicate any purpose not to proceed with diligence. Moreover, the granting of bail may be on such terms as to insure against the dangers adverted to in the opinion of the St. John case, supra.

The dangers referred to are that the petitioner desires bail simply for the purpose of delay. A broad principle of justice underlies Justice Butler's opinion, and he is amply supported, not only by the intention of the organic law, but also by the previous decisions that have been made in United States courts on this question.

On Jan. 2 and Jan. 21, 1926, the Post-Dispatch pointed out editorially the dangers of refusing to grant appeal bonds in criminal cases, and suggested congressional action to clear up a legal situation which there seemed to be some confusion. It mentioned also the possible injustice which may be done by the abuse of a Judge's discretionary power in such cases. Justice Butler's opinion is reassuring on every point of human rights involved in this discussion.

COUNTY JUSTICE.

The unfortunate person who is hauled before County Justices Stecker and Wernemeyer in traffic cases is now required to pay, in addition to whatever fine may be assessed against him, the sum of $15.25 in court costs. Heretofore, the tariff was $7.50. A month ago the judicial fee was aroused when eight County Justices were indicted on charges of oppression in office, because it was claimed that the costs of $7.50 were extortionate. This, apparently, is the Justices' answer. Simultaneously, other regulations were promulgated. No traffic cases will be dismissed except upon order of the Prosecuting Attorney. No road summonses will be issued, but accused motorists must go to Clayton and remain in the custody of the Sheriff until they can furnish bond. We know of only one sure way to escape the harsh hand of county justice and that is to stay in town. If the county roads are shunned perhaps the laws of supply and demand will operate to make court proceedings less expensive.

UNSAFE SAFETY ZONES.

E. K. Eastham, safety director for the United Railways, in a letter published on this page, calls attention to the fact that in the past five years the United Railways street cars have carried over 2,000,000 passengers over 200,000,000 car miles, with but one passenger killed. He asserts that this showing proves that it is even safer to ride the street cars than the steam railways.

Yes, but there still remains for the city the problem of getting on and off the street cars safely. On last Sunday four persons waiting in a so-called safety zone to board a car at Taylor and West Florissant avenues were run down by an automobile, two of them receiving injuries that are usually fatal.

All over the city there are "zones," marked off with paint strips, and called safety zones, but without any sort of raised platform and often without the upright markers that are intended to warn automobile drivers of the extent of the zone. In many cities these markers are united by a chain, which is an additional safeguard. In St. Louis the chains are absent, markers are few and the safety platforms are to be found at some places, other zones for street car passengers equally in need of platforms, where there is ample room for them, being without such platforms.

This neglect of real safety precautions ought to cost the city as well as careless automobile drivers, heavy sums for damages to persons injured or killed when standing in safety zones where there is no safety and can be none. It is a farce to boast of safety on street cars while passengers are being injured or killed at their doors.

MUSSOLINI AND ITALY.

Some of our Italian friends assume that we are hostile to Italy because we have severely criticized the methods and manners of Dictator Mussolini. To the contrary. It is because we love Italy so much that we criticize Mussolini.

We do not regard the Government of Italy, which Mussolini has seized, as the people of Italy. We acknowledge that Mussolini served Italy in the beginning, but when he makes his service the excuse for establishing a despotism he earns the condemnation of all men. In and out of Italy, who love liberty. It is a matter of profound regret and sorrow to all intelligent men that the Italian nation, which has played so large and wonderful a part in human history, whose record is full of magnificent achievements, in art, literature, law, civilization, should become the slave of an ambitious dictator, the victim of a blustering tyrant. Italy's own experience, which has been the instruction book of all civilized mankind, should warn Italians of the danger of unlimited power in the hands of one man.

HAITI.

The burning tropical sun now shines on a peaceful and orderly Haiti. Since 1915, when the United States first took possession, the island has enjoyed all the blessings of government by foreign machine guns. All the native rebels and patriots have been shot to death or terrified into submission. No snipers, jealous of the liberty of what is nominally a republic, lurk in the bush to conduct a hopeless fight against American domination. The National City Bank of New York owns the National Bank of Haiti and its stability is protected by the United States, which collects the customs and controls the finances of Haiti. A nation of small farms, owned by independent farmers, is being transformed into a nation of large plantations owned by large American interests and worked by ex-independent natives. By purchase and foreclosure Haitians are being relieved of the responsibilities of owning land.

The natives have also been relieved of the responsibility of voting. Although under the law a National Assembly must be elected every two years, no such body has met in 10 years. The republic has a President, but he takes his orders from the United States Marines. The Haitians have a splendid new Constitution. It was drafted in the Navy Department, Washington, D. C., and sent to Haiti with the advice that it be adopted. It was adopted. Order reigns in Haiti. Everything is running smoothly. The building of roads was given impetus by the revival by the Marines of corvee, a modified system of slavery, which was abandoned after what the Marines considered sentimental protests were made from the United States. Schools, toothbrushes and running water are making their appearance.

When and if the United States Marines leave Haiti, they mean that it shall be a bigger and better, a sweeter and cleaner place. No doubt, under the spell of American efficiency, it will produce more coffee, cocoa and cotton than ever before. Incidentally, the Marines will have transformed a free nation into a nation of serfs. For more than a hundred years, from 1804, when Haiti gained its independence from France, until 1915, when the Marines landed for the first time, Haiti muddled along and somehow governed itself. It was dirty, disorderly and happy. Those days are gone forever.

MARION TALLEY.

Since the ineffable Patti there have been few singers of the first constellation as precocious as Marion Talley, the Kansas City 19-year-old who made her debut at the Metropolitan last night. Patti made her debut as Lucia in New York when she was 14, and even at that tender age had long concert experience behind her. Like Miss Talley, Galli-Curci made her bow as Gilda in "Rigoletto" at the age of 20, but she did not become famous until 1916, when, at 27, her Gilda in Chicago took the musical world by storm. Tetrazzini's debut was made in Florence when she was 21, as Inez in "L'Africaine," but she was 24 before she appeared at the Metropolitan. Farrar was 19 when she made her debut as Marguerite in Berlin, but she did not appear at the Metropolitan until much later. Schumann-Heink was 18 when she first appeared at Dresden, but the Metropolitan did not see her until she was 34. Melba made her debut in Brussels as Gilda in "Rigoletto" in 1887 when she was 27 years old. Of these, all singers of the highest rank, only Patti and Schumann-Heink developed earlier than Miss Talley.

Aside from the romantic circumstances which attended Miss Talley's debut, the fact that she has been able in these few years to achieve such virtuosity as she has displayed is decidedly unusual. It is true that she was gifted with an exquisite natural voice, but only infinite and painful labor could make it possible for her to appear as a prima donna in that severe and hypercritical tribunal, the Metropolitan. We toss a tribute to this marvelous little Missouri girl. May her success last night at the Metropolitan be the beginning of a dazzling and a golden career.

Yes, Luella.
Mr. Coolidge.
Late last night
On his own

The simple matter
That he formerly Had known.
Where the title
Of Mr. Harding
Were vicious
At best.
Things have lately
We take it Left him just
A little mused.

So it goes.
Mr. Little gills.
Ofentimes
We hold our away

Never have known What it can be
To be President
At all.

Thus 't was
With Mr. Coolidge.
But as fortune's

They have criticism in New York. Letter from a reader to one of the New York newspapers:

There have appeared in your paper many letters praising this, that and the other. Allow me to contribute my mite by denouncing you, your staff and everything and everyone connected with the paper.

In the first place, whoever writes your general news must be a half-wit or an idiot. On several occasions I detected stories in which no dates were given. Secondly, your columnists have not their equal in the City of New York—no one is half so bad. Thirdly, your editorials are punks and plainly cooked up. Fourthly, your sport stories are all alike. Whoever writes them just changes the names and dates to suit the moment. Fifthly, most of your humor is quoted, except such as is unconscious. Sixthly, your mechanical department is a complete bust. The make-up is terrible. The percentage of typographical errors is far too high. But why go on?

Please don't get the idea that I am writing this because I think you will appreciate the criticism, or any other such high-minded reason. I'm writing because I think you are a bunch of dumb-bells, morons and dodos. I'm writing because I consider you personally a bozo. I'm writing because I think your whole paper is a soupy mess, fit only to be used in wrapping the tin can of a social deprivation to those who were present, we are in a way relieved. We were wondering if Senator Williams, who voted against the World Court, had been seated yesterday morning how the Secretary of War's dinner to the President came off, precisely how they paired off to the dining room and just what the social set-up was, we picked up the afternoon paper to discover that Mr. Coolidge didn't show up at all. While remarking that this was something of a social deprivation to those who were present, we are in a way relieved. ## REPRINTS INCREASE BOOK PRODUCTION

Titles Fewer Than 10 Years Ago—"Soundings" Best-Selling Fiction.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Book production in the United States is on the increase, but the number of new titles still is below that of ten years ago.

The fact, says the Publishers' Weekly, indicates that editors are rejecting their careful window-shopping of manuscripts in order that the market may not be inundated with new titles and that increased production is found in the reprints.

The total of book production in the United States for the last year shows an increase of 4.7 per cent over the year 1925, as compared with a 1.2 per cent increase a year before the publication continues.

The rate of increase in new editions has been much more rapid than the new titles, and this seems to be an admirable symptom.

A first novel leads fiction. "Soundings," a first novel by A. Hamilton Gibbs, headed the list of best sellers in fiction in 1925. It was the monthly reports, but because of its consistent high mark on the best annual sales record.

For the fourth consecutive year "The Life of Lincoln" by Louis Hunt Peck, topped the non-fiction list, ranking ahead of such books as "Twenty-five Years" by Lord Grey, and "When We Were Very Young" by A. A. Milne.

Most Popular on the Lists. The lists follow: "The Constant Nymph" by Margaret Roberts; "The Keeper of the Reins" by Stratton Porter; "Glorious Polio" by E. Barrington; "The Green Hat" by Michael Arlen; "The Little French Girl" by Anne Douglas Sedgwick; "A 1924 Book" by A. Hamilton Gibbs; "The Personal Bachelor" by Anne Parrish; "The Carolinian" by Rafael Sabatini; "One Increasing Purpose" by A. M. Hutchinson.

Non-fiction: "Diet and Health" by the Boston Cooking School Cook Book; "When We Were Very Young" by A. A. Milne; "The Man Nobody Knows" by Bruce Barton; "The Life of Lincoln" by Louis Hunt Peck; "The Personal Bachelor" by Anne Parrish; "The Carolinian" by Rafael Sabatini; "One Increasing Purpose" by A. M. Hutchinson.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

FORGING TO THE FRONT.

THE year 1926 is big with opportunities for Missouri, and those who attended the dinner at the Hotel Robidoux last night learned of some of them. They heard the message from the Associated Industries of Missouri, and its allied organization, the Association for Economy in Public Expenses, which have launched a campaign for the general good of the state. The first named body, through its local branches in every city and many towns of Missouri, has three principal objectives:

1. A workmen's compensation law, by which industry is to carry the burden of its own accidents, and save the ruinous cost of personal injury lawsuits. This will be submitted to the voters in the form of a referendum this fall.

2. Improving the condition of women in business and industry by encouraging them to study their own problems and to carefully examine "uplift movements" urged in their behalf by well-intentioned societies not always conversant with their needs.

3. Tax reduction through reduction of the cost of State, county and local government.

This last is an undertaking of such magnitude, however, that it has been deemed advisable to make it the special charge of a separate organization—the Association for Economy in Public Expenses—an offshoot of the parent body, which embraces in its membership some 17 organized groups of taxpayers, including agriculturists, banks, press, manufacturers, insurance, mining, commercial, civic bodies, home owned union labor, employers, transportation and public utilities.

The associations have undertaken an ambitious program, but are attacking their problems with such spirit and determination that success seems assured.

Missouri is now building roads faster than any other state of the Union.

MAKING A FRIEND OF BORIS.

THIRTY inches of snow paralyzed the cities of the North Atlantic seaboard. New York and Boston were just about helpless in a situation that would have discommodated Minneapolis only slightly.

Why? Because the dwellers in those Eastern cities have not learned, like Minneapolis, how to live in kindly neighborliness with old Boris. We meet the snow as a friend. They shrink from the snow as a deadly enemy. New Yorkers flock to winter resorts. But given the same conditions at their doorsteps, they seem virtually helpless. In a region where winter's visit is normally continuous over a period of two or three months, we have an intimate acquaintance with Boris. We know what he can do. But we also know what he cannot do. We know, for one thing, that he cannot stop us, cannot interfere with our regular work and play for days at a time, as he sometimes does when he makes his unexpected visits to communities that have never learned to think they are more fortunate than he.

FINAL ADDRESS OF DR. MORGAN

The final address of the Rev. Dr. G. Campbell Morgan's four-day series at Central Presbyterian Church, Delmar boulevard and Clara avenue, will be given at 7:30 tonight, the early hour being due to Dr. Morgan's plan to leave the city on a 10 o'clock train. The meetings have been very largely attended and last night's audience of about 1,100 packed the seats and stood along the walls.

Dr. Morgan spoke last night on "The Church's Responsibility Toward the Bible," based on the text, "The pillar and ground of the truth." Tonight's address will be on "The Bible and the Child." Yesterday afternoon Dr. Morgan spoke on "The Virgin Birth," upholding the narrative of St. Luke as an essential part of Christian faith.

VETERAN SHOE SALESMAN DIES

Funeral services for Edward A. Quenel, veteran wholesale shoe salesman, who died yesterday at his residence at 4135 Westminster place of a complication of diseases, will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow at an undertaking establishment at 3221 Olive street, with interment in Bellefontaine cemetery.

Mr. Quenel was 76 years old and had been a salesman for St. Louis shoe companies for 26 years. For 40 years he traveled Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas, making many of his early journeys on horseback with his samples in his saddlebags. Since 1911 he has been with the United Shoe Co., now a branch of the International Shoe Co. He gave up traveling 12 years ago and became house salesman. His widow and two sons, Edgar G. and Earl J. Quenel of St. Louis, survive him.

MAKES THE SKIN
FIRM AND SMOOTH

Acts as a gentle astringent

IT comes from France—from the laboratory of a great French chemist—this gentle astringent to stimulate and protect your skin.

A charming toilet water, with its subtle outdoor fragrance of fresh gathered lilacs—Ed. Pinaud's Lilac Vegetal soothes and tones up the skin, keeping it smooth and free from wrinkles.

Men find no toilet water quite like Lilac Vegetal for removing the after-shaving tenderness and smart of the skin. It disinfects—prevents infection from cuts and scratches—it keeps the sensitive, freshly-shaven skin from chapping.

EVERYWHERE WOMEN, too, are using Lilac Vegetal after the bath or after cold cream. A delicate astringent, it protects the skin from abrupt changes of temperature. Both men and women are using more and more this cool, stimulating toilet water. Every druggist and department store has Ed. Pinaud's Lilac Vegetal. Pinaud Incorporated, 99 Fifth Avenue, New York.

MANY WOULD TAKE FREE SEED OFFER

New York Botanical Garden Unable to Supply Blue-Eyed Fringed Gentian.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—America, the beautiful, would be carpeted from coast to coast with blue-eyed Fringed Gentian if the thousands of flower lovers writing to the New York Botanical Garden could be given the seeds they seek, says Dr. M. A. Howe, acting director.

The director told a sad tale of an idyl wrecked by advertising. Two years ago Dr. George F. Norton published an article in the Journal of the New York Botanical Garden. "Then doth thy sweet and quiet eye look through its fringes to the sky, blue—Blue—" he wrote the poet, and made the offer: "I shall be glad to furnish free of charge a small lot of seed of the Fringed Gentian to any flower-lover who will select a meadow that will not be burned over nor pasture, and scatter the seeds there."

The Fringed Gentian, one of the favorite wild flowers, then was beginning to grow rare. When Dr. Norton chanced upon thick patches of it near Stanwich, Conn., he got the idea of gathering the plentiful little seeds in his dried pods, and distributing them to flower-lovers who would go about rehabilitating bare meadows with the blue aristocrat.

"The seeds are 'half-half' a thimbleful contains about 2500, I suppose," said Dr. Howe, "enough to plant a fair-sized patch of land. So it was not difficult to mail out the seed and make the offer. It was the idea of gathering the plentiful little seeds in his dried pods, and distributing them to flower-lovers who would go about rehabilitating bare meadows with the blue aristocrat."

"This year the unexpected happened. Newspapers began to pour in from California, Washington, Arizona, even a German letter from Europe. Some of the papers dropped Dr. Norton's name, referring simply to us, and our mail bag began to swell as had his. Our boom has become a boomerang."

A form letter tells the last chapter.

ARCHBISHOP CIEPLAK DIES OF PNEUMONIA AT AGE OF 69

Prelate Once Was Sentenced to Death in Moscow for Opposing Soviets.

PASSAIC, N. J., Feb. 18.—Archbishop John Felix Cieplak of Vilna, Poland, once sentenced to death in a Soviet tribunal for resisting seizure of church property, is dead. He died at St. Mary's Hospital here last night after a week's illness from pneumonia and influenza. He was 69 years old. The prelate had been in this country since last November and expected to sail Saturday for Poland.

Formerly Roman Catholic Archbishop of Russia, he was sentenced March 26, 1923, in Moscow to be shot. Vicar General Butchkevich was tried and sentenced with him and later executed. The United States joined with other countries in protesting against the sentences and the Archbishop's was commuted to 10 years' imprisonment. Through the efforts of Premier Mussolini of Italy, and the Roman Catholic Church in the United States, he was released from prison in March, 1924. He was the guest of Pope Pius in Rome for 18 months.

Archbishop Cieplak visited a number of American cities after his arrival. His appointment as Metropolitan of Vilna came while in the United States.

Born in Dombrova, Aug. 17, 1857, he entered the priesthood in 1878. He was appointed titular Archbishop of Achrida in 1919 by Pope Benedict.

EARLY IBSEN ACTRESS DIES

Ida Jeffreys Was Original Mrs. Alving in "Ghosts."

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Ida Jeffreys, noted actress of a former generation and friend of the late Eleonora Duse, is dead. She was known in private life as Mrs. Ida Jeffreys-Goodfriend. She played Julia in "The Hunchback" and was leading woman for Augustin Daly with his company at the Grand Opera House.

After her marriage Mrs. Goodfriend became associated with the early presentations of Ibsen in America. She was the original Mrs. Alving in Ibsen's "Ghosts."

Those who send stamps may resolve the reply. X "Our friend informs us that he no longer has any seeds."

CHILDREN OF 21 SCHOOLS TAKE PART IN PANTOMIME

Program in Celebration of 29th Anniversary of Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Two thousand St. Louis parents and teachers attended a historical pantomime commemorating the twenty-ninth anniversary of the founding of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, presented yesterday afternoon in the auditorium of the McKinley Intermediate School.

Pupils, teachers and mothers from 21 schools participated in the program, which depicted the work of 21 phases of parent-teacher activities. Scenes were presented by groups representing Lowell, Dewey, Mason, Laclede, Hempstead, Charles, Barr Branch, Hodgson, Monroe, Howard, Gardewine, Fanning, Kennard, Froebel, Blair, Meramec, Roe, Mount Pleasant, Mann, Oak Hill and Pestalozzi schools.

Mrs. A. J. Barr, president of the St. Louis Council of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, gave the opening address.

Will of Mrs. E. R. Adams Filed.

Mrs. Emma R. Adams, widow of Federal Judge Elmer B. Adams, left the bulk of her estate in trust of the St. Louis Union Trust Co. for the benefit of her three sons and a niece, the latter being Katherine Semple Pomeroy, it was shown by her will filed yesterday.

The sisters are Mary R. Semple, Jeannie R. Bryson and Marie R. Moore. Specific bequests totaling $20,000 are made for other relatives, while a bequest of $3000 goes to Mrs. Adams' chauffeur, George Ridley. No bequest is made to Abbie R. Smith, a fourth sister, the will stating she has ample fortune of her own. Mrs. Adams died at Woodstock, Vt., Feb. 4. She was 80 years old.

MATTEOTTI MURDER TRIAL WILL START ON MARCH 15

Copyright, 1926, by the Press and Publishing Co., St. Louis, Mo.
 Feb. 18.—Announcing the Matteotti murder trial will start March 15 at Chitt, the Fascist paper Popolo d'Italia stresses the measures taken to insure a quiet trial. The Socialist Deputy's widow has withdrawn her counsel from watching the case and Popolo foresees a verdict reached within eight or 10 sessions. Chitt is an Abruzzi city where the inhabitants are unlikely to indulge in manifestations either for or against Dumini and the others charged with unpremeditated manslaughter. Likewise all Fascists from neighboring districts will be carefully prevented from visiting

Chitt during the sessions. The authorities expect large numbers of Italian and foreign newspaper representatives whose task will be lightened by the distribution of official stenographic reports as the trial proceeds. Matteotti's widow, in withdrawing her counsel, stated her reason was that it was repugnant to her to participate in what she considered a comedy since those really responsible for her husband's death will not be present and she with her children, places her faith in Providence and the inevitable verdict of history to reveal the truth.

DECEASED HEIRS OF $90,000
Missouri, Who Operated in New York, Is Sent to Sing Sing.

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Jeremiah
S. Perkins, 59 years old, of Evanston, Ill., has been sent to Sing Sing prison on a three to eight year sentence after admitting he defrauded missing heirs of nearly $90,000.

For several years he maintained an office on lower Broadway. It was his practice to watch newspaper advertisements, trace mis-ing heirs to Europe and obtain powers of attorney from them. In this way he would collect the money due them.

Two Killed in Train Collision.
By Associated Press.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Feb. 18.—
Two men were killed today when the New York Central passenger train from Utica carrying New York sleepers, ran head-on into a freight train near the Castor Lake station. The dead are W. Bell, engineer, and J. C. Quinn, fireman, of the passenger train.

FIGHTING DELMAR
CROSSING PLAN

Attorney Makes Public
Names of Property Owners in District Involved
in Matter.

A list of the property owners
east and south of the Delmar grade crossing, whose objections have prevented consummation of the city's compromise with the Wabash railroad on the Delmar viaduct issue, was made public today
by Attorney Marion C. Early, who represented the objectors before
the State Public Service Commission at Jefferson City yesterday.

The Public Service Commission,
after hearing Early's argument against the compromise plan, refused to modify its order for construction of the viaduct with an 18-foot clearance. As such modification was essential to the compromise plan, the Commission's decision places the city and the Wabash back where they were before the compromise agreement was reached Jan. 29. This is the opinion of City Counselor Muench, Glendy B. Arnold, counsel for the Hall, counsel for the Wabash. Arnold added that, in his opinion,
the compromise agreement was
"dead."

List of Objectors.
The objecting property owners
are:
Gatesworth Investment Co., owners Gatesworth Hotel, on Union boulevard near Wabash tracks.

Ambassador Investment Co.,
Sam Koplar president, owning
two apartment hotels at Union
boulevard and Pershing avenue.
L. C. and C. W. Penningroth, owners of the Mauretania, Westmoreland and Commodore apartments, on Pershing avenue between Union boulevard and De-Ballerie avenue.

Mrs. Ellen Baker May, owner
100 feet near De Ballerlie avenue grade crossing.

Frank H. Gerhart, owner one-half block on east side De Ballerie, near Waterman.
Louis and C. Bueltermann, owners of 148 feet at southeast corner Delmar and DeBallerie.
C. H. Rodehaver, owner of residence property on Delmar
near crossing.

G. D. Giuseffi, owner of 200
feet on north line of Delmar, opposite DeBallerie.
T. M. Sayman, owner of residence property at 5299 Lindell
boulevard.

Objections were also filed by a list of 15 real estate dealers, representing various property interests
in the district. For example,
Park Improvement Association, C.
R. Sloan, president; by the Manchester-Chouteau Improvement Association, Hugh Brammer, president, and by the West End Grade Crossing Association, composed of property owners in the district.

Height of Clearance Is Issue.
Attorney Early, in telling of the ground of the objections, insisted that the property owners were not trying to delay construction of the Delmar viaduct, and he argued that the effect of their action would probably be to expedite that work, rather than to delay it.

"The compromise plan, which would increase the clearance from 18 to 20 feet, would make new ordinances necessary," Early said.
"This was admitted by its advocates at the hearing yesterday. The viaduct with 20-foot clearance
would have to extend back farther, both east and west, and would make a new group of damage claims, which would have to be met by ordinances."

"On the other hand, if the city stands on its 18-foot plan, which has been approved by the Public Service Commission and the State
Supreme Court, the United States
Supreme Court will reach the case
in April, and it will be decided this summer. A decision in the city's favor will make it possible to begin work immediately, as there will be no further ground for legal resistance, and no new damage claims to be provided for."

Interest of Property Owners.
Explaining the interest of property owners as far east as Union
boulevard, Early said:

"The Delmar viaduct is not an isolated project; it is part of a general scheme of grade separation in the West End. The Wabash has admitted this in its briefs. The change in the Delmar plan from 13-foot to 20-foot clearance would affect all the grade crossings south
and east of Delmar. It would make impossible to carry out the present track depression plan for the other crossings, and would change it necessary to elevate the tracks, if the grades are ever to be separated at all."

"The change would also affect street grades throughout the district, and would entail great ex-

FIGHTING DELMAR
CROSSING PLAN

Attorney Makes Public
Names of Property Owners in District Involved
in Matter.

A list of the property owners
east and south of the Delmar grade
crossing, whose objections have prevented consummation of the city's compromise with the Wabash railroad on the Delmar viaduct
issue, was made public today
by Attorney Marion C. Early, who represented the objectors before
the State Public Service Commission at Jefferson City yesterday.

The Public Service Commission,
after hearing Early's argument
against the compromise plan, refused to modify its order for construction of the viaduct with an 18-
foot clearance. As such modification was essential to the compromise plan, the Commission's decision places the city and the Wabash back where they were before
the compromise agreement was reached Jan. 29. This is the opinion of City Counselor Muench, Glendy B. Arnold, counsel for the Hall, counsel for the Wabash. Arnold added that, in his opinion,
the compromise agreement was
"dead."

List of Objectors.
The objecting property owners
are:
Gatesworth Investment Co., owners Gatesworth Hotel, on Union boulevard near Wabash
tracks.

Ambassador Investment Co.,
Sam Koplar president, owning
two apartment hotels at Union
boulevard and Pershing avenue.
L. C. and C. W. Penningroth,
owners of the Mauretania, Westmoreland and Commodore apartments, on Pershing avenue between Union boulevard and De-
Ballerie avenue.

Mrs. Ellen Baker May, owner
100 feet near De Ballerlie avenue grade crossing.

Frank H. Gerhart, owner one-half block on east side De Bal-
lerie, near Waterman.
Louis and C. Bueltermann,
owners of 148 feet at southeast
corner Delmar and DeBallerie.
C. H. Rodehaver, owner of residence property on Delmar
near crossing.

G. D. Giuseffi, owner of 200
feet on north line of Delmar,
opposite DeBallerie.
T. M. Sayman, owner of residence property at 5299 Lindell
boulevard.

Objections were also filed by a list of 15 real estate dealers, representing various property interests
in the district. For example,
Park Improvement Association, C.
R. Sloan, president; by the Manchester-Chouteau Improvement Association, Hugh Brammer, president, and by the West End Grade
Crossing Association, composed of
property owners in the district.

Height of Clearance Is Issue.
Attorney Early, in telling of the ground of the objections, insisted
that the property owners were not trying to delay construction of the Delmar viaduct, and he argued that the effect of their action would probably be to expedite that work,
rather than to delay it.

"The compromise plan, which
would increase the clearance from 18 to 20 feet, would make new ordinances necessary," Early said.
"This was admitted by its advocates at the hearing yesterday. The viaduct with 20-foot clearance
would have to extend back farther,
both east and west, and would make a new group of damage claims, which would have to be met by ordinances."

"On the other hand, if the city
stands on its 18-foot plan, which has been approved by the Public Service Commission and the State
Supreme Court, the United States
Supreme Court will reach the case
in April, and it will be decided this summer. A decision in the city's favor will make it possible to begin work immediately, as there will be no further ground for legal resistance, and no new damage

Interest of Property Owners.
Explaining the interest of property owners as far east as Union
boulevard, Early said:

"The Delmar viaduct is not an isolated project; it is part of a general scheme of grade separation in
the West End. The Wabash has admitted this in its briefs. The change in the Delmar plan from 13-foot to 20-foot clearance would affect all the grade crossings south
and east of Delmar. It would make impossible to carry out the present track depression plan for
the other crossings, and would change it necessary to elevate the tracks, if the grades are ever to be separated at all."

"The change would also affect street grades throughout the district, and would entail great expense to property owners and to the city. Most important, the 20-foot clearance would be a precedent, and all the other crossings would have to have the same. This would mean, at De Ballerlie avenue, a humping structure which would hide the Jefferson Memorial building; and at other crossings, disfiguring structures which would permanently impair the beauty of the whole West End district. This consideration is a much more important one than the damage to the property of my clients, some of whom believe their property would lose one-half its value."

Cites Statements at Hearings.
Even if the Public Service Commission had done the part allotted to it in the compromise plan, it is not certain that the Wabash could have obtained dismissal of its appeal in the Supreme Court. The Rock Island Railroad, also a party, had not concurred in the compromise, and the intervention of the property owners would have been an obstacle. Another intervention is likely to be that of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, who continue to insist on a 22-foot clearance, as provided in a statute enacted by the 1925 Legislature, for the Delmar viaduct.

The argument against the 22-foot clearance is that the law does not apply in the Delmar case, having been enacted after the order for the 18-foot viaduct was issued; and that the tracks are little used by freight trains. The clearance law is for the protection of freight crews.

commission, several of whose members are lawyers, accepted this view and refused to modify its order in accordance with the terms of the compromise, as the Wabash counsel formally requested it to do.
Early said, before the commission, that he intended to ask the Supreme Court to dismiss the case before it, which is the appeal of the Wabash from the commission's order. He will argue that the constitutional questions involved have been settled in previous cases. Dismissal would mean that the city could begin carrying out its original plan at once.

11 PERSONS PERISH IN SHIP COLLISION

Trinidad Government Steamer Goes Down in Crash in Port of Spain Harbor.

By the Associated Press.

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, Feb. 18.—Eleven persons, members of the crew and passengers on the Trinidad Government steamer Naparima, perished when the steamer was sunk in a collision with the Lamport & Holt liner Vandyck, in the harbor here yesterday afternoon.

The collision occurred when the Vandyck, bound for New York from South American ports, was clearing from her dock. The remainder of those on the Naparima were saved by small fishing boats in the vicinity.

The Vandyck is detained by the local government, awaiting the result of an official inquiry.

POPLAR BLUFF WOULD BECOME 'GATEWAY CITY'

Two Federal Highways Go Through Place, Carrying Traffic to the Ozarks.

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., Feb. 18.—An effort to make Poplar Bluff the Gateway City to both the Southeast Missouri farming district in the southeast, and the Missouri Ozarks to the north and west, is being made by the Poplar Bluff Chamber of Commerce.

Sen. T. R. R. Ely of Kennett, in an address, declares Poplar Bluff is the ideal point from which travel will turn in either direction when the tourist season opens this year. Two Federal highways pass through Poplar Bluff, one running east and west and the other north and south. These roads, Sen. Ely believes, will direct traffic through Poplar Bluff to the Ozark section, and to the alluvial farming land between Poplar Bluff and the Mississippi River.

A big "round up" will be staged here July 3 and 4 when delegates from the Missouri and Ozark Chamber of Commerce territory will gather for the biggest "get-together" meeting ever staged in the southern part of the state.

BUSH FIRES SWEEP AUSTRALIA

Township in Victoria Saved After Desperate Struggle; Flames Light Up Cemeteries.

By the Associated Press.

MELBOURNE, Feb. 18.—Bush fire fatalities in Australia now total 31 and four persons are missing. A strong wind is fanning the flames in many places.

The township of Toolangi, in the Healesville District of Victoria, was saved after a desperate struggle. Women and children were sent out of the danger zone. The conflagration was a terrifying spectacle. Under the illumination of the flames huge crowds witnessed the burial of six fire victims last night in the West Warburton cemetery, and similar scenes were enacted elsewhere.

A destructive fire has broken out in the Toora Hill country in Southern Victoria where flames are in some places 50 feet high. The fire is traveling with great rapidity and is threatening the township of Porepunkan. Fire fighters had to run for their lives in Yallourn Township.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—The Pressed Steel Car Co. today lost a $2,000,000 damage suit against the Carnegie Steel Co. for alleged breach of contract. After a trial lasting two weeks, a jury in Supreme Court returned a verdict in favor of the Carnegie Steel Co. The damage suit was based on a wartime contract for delivery by the Carnegie Steel Co. of a large number of steel plates to the car-

Build your body back to Health

Tanlac is a great natural builder. It revitalizes the blood, stimulates the digestive organs, rejuvenates the liver and pepes you up all over.

From the four corners of the earth we gather the roots, barks and herbs that go into Tanlac. We compound them after the famous Tanlac formula that has brought health to millions.

Our files are crammed with testimonials from men and women in every walk of life, who state gratefully that Tanlac has brought them back to vigorous strength.

If you suffer from indigestion, loss of appetite, can't sleep or rest; if rheumatism is making life a torture; if your liver is out of sorts and your body has run down to skin and bones, get a bottle of Tanlac at your druggist's and start taking it right away.

You'll be amazed to note the improvement that comes at once. For the first time in months you'll feel like eating some good solid food. You'll wake up in the morning rested and refreshed, ready for a good day's work. First thing you know you'll have some color in your now if you want to build your body cheeks and the sparkle of health back to health and vigor. Take back in your eyes.

Don't delay taking Tanlac. Begin today.

See how amazingly white your week's wash now becomes

—in half the time, without washboard scrubbing—even in the hardest water

WOMEN everywhere are astonished at the new kind of soap that washes clothes by gently soaking out the dirt. No matter how hard the water, it gets the family wash whiter and cleaner than ever—with absolute safety to the clothes—and with little rubbing, if any!

Rinso is an entirely new kind of soap—granulated. It dissolves quickly and loosens the ground-in dirt. It is all you need on washday—no special soaps, powders or softeners—for Rinso itself acts as a softener. Simply use enough to give creamy, lasting suds.

You just soak the wash in Rinso suds—overnight or an hour or two in the morning. Then rinse—and the clothes are whiter, sweeter, cleaner than you could rub them! Dirt and stains float off in the soaking. Even the most soiled places need only a gentle rub between the fingers to make them spotless.

Easy on hands—safe for clothes

No laundry soap is easier on hands or safer to use than Rinso. It contains no acids, harsh chemicals or bleaches—nothing that can injure white clothes or fast colors. You could soak even your finest white table cloth in it for days without harm.

Rinso really makes clothes last longer, because it ends washboard scrubbing, the chief cause of clothes wearing out. Rinso saves you, saves clothes, saves your hands.

Fine for washing machines

Rinso gives wonderful results in washing machines. Recommended by 23 leading washing machine manufacturers for safety, and for a whiter, brighter wash. Fine for boiling, too—though boiling isn't necessary, as Rinso sterilizes as it washes. Get Rinso, for small cost, from your grocer. Follow directions on the package.

ARRESTS IN BOOTLEG ALCOHOL INQUIRY MAY REACH 200

By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 18.—The alleged nation-wide bootleg alcohol conspiracy under investigation by the Federal grand jury here, involves at least 12 large cities. The case is growing in magnitude so rapidly, United States Attorney Bernstein declares, arrests may reach 200.

Persons in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, St. Paul, Atlantic City, Minneapolis, Duluth, Detroit, Baltimore, St. Louis, Chicago, Boston and Cleveland are involved, and it is likely that persons in Columbus, Kansas City, New York, Newark, Providence and Milwaukee may become implicated. More than a dozen additional St. Paul and Minneapolis men are said to have been named by St. Paul persons here to testify.

E. L. Irey, chief of the Intelligence Bureau of the Department of Justice, has returned to Cleveland to take charge of the investigation. He is said to have several additional confessions obtained in half a dozen Eastern cities where the ring is reported to have operated.

TWO ROOMING HOUSES ROBBED

An early morning sneak thief was chased from two rooming houses on Lindell boulevard shortly after 4 a. m. today, escaping with small amounts of money taken from the trousers of roomers.

At a fraternity house at 8800 Lindell boulevard, Joseph Downey, a student, was awakened when a bunch of keys dropped to the floor while the thief was going through Downey's trousers. Downey yelled and the thief ran and escaped. Seven students in the home reported losses aggregating $16.94.

A short time before the same man, apparently, from descriptions, was pursued from the rooming house at 3737 Lindell boulevard his room. Harris was robbed of after Thomas Harris, a roomer, $35, and Ralph Atkeson, another had awakened and found him in roomer, lost $16.

BRUISES ON CONVICT'S BODY

Coroner's Jury Findings in Contrast to Prison Board Report.

By the Associated Press.

TUSCUMBIA, Ala., Feb. 18.—Investigation of the death of Toote Taylor, a convict, shifted back here today, where authorities awaited the official report of the Coroner's jury, which viewed the body of Taylor when his grave was opened at Town Creek. In its report the jury said bruises and cuts were discovered on Taylor's body and, although the charge that these blows produced death was avoided, the findings of the jury are declared to be in sharp contrast to the official report filed with the Prison Board that the prisoner died of heart trouble.

Charges by J. G. Taylor, father of the convict, that his son was clubbed to death by two Negro trustees, led to the present investigation. It also was indicated that the findings of the Coroner's jury could be placed in the hands of the prosecuting officials. The jury found that Taylor's left jaw was larger than his right, and that six bruises or cuts were noticeable on various parts of his body. Taylor, who was 39 years old, died at Flat Top mine last November. He was serving a 16-year sentence for second-degree murder.

CONVICT SLAYER IN 6 MINUTES

Tennessee Court Imposes Life Sentence on Murderer of Woman.

By the Associated Press.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 18.—Within six minutes after Arthur C. Welch, 34 years old, called for trial in Criminal Court here had entered a plea of guilty to the killing of Mrs. Tuppene Patmore Cooper, 25, a jury was sworn, the testimony of three State witnesses heard, a formal verdict returned and a sentence of life imprisonment imposed.

Welch shot and killed Mrs. Cooper and wounded himself several months ago when they were riding in an automobile. Investigation showed they had been sweethearts but had quarreled. Welch was said to have been drinking at the time of the shooting.

Charge Against Negro Dropped.
The case against William Mayfield, Negro, 315 North Channing avenue, who was charged with practicing law without a license, was nolle prossed by the State yesterday in Judge Miller's Court of Criminal Correction. A warrant was issued against Mayfield, on Feb. 2, when Orange Ware, Negro, 1508 Pine street, told police he had given Mayfield $8 for services as a lawyer. Yesterday Mayfield told Judge Miller that he had only acted as a mediator between a lawyer and Ware, and had not represented himself as an attorney.

Merchant's Pocket Picked.

Herman Dwyer, president of the Dwyer Belting Co., 3201 North Broadway, reported that his overcoat pocket was picked by two men who jostled him at Broadway and Angelrod street when he walked to the Bremen Bank yesterday. He lost his firm's bank book and some checks of no value.

JUDGE FREY HITS REFORMATORY MANAGEMENT

Calls Certain Facts in Criticism of His Sending Youths to Boonville "Plain Lies."

Circuit Judge Frey, who recently stated that the Boonville Reformatory had become such a bad breeding place for crime that he sent youthful offenders there only when necessary, preferring to have them in the penitentiary, yesterday replied to a Boonville dispatch in Wednesday's Globe-Democrat in which officers at the Reformatory pointed out that in the last year 11 youths had been sent to the Reformatory by Judge Frey on commutation of penitentiary sentences.

Judge Frey's statement, "I am glad to know that the criticism of the management and operation of the Reformatory at Boonville is finally getting under the skin of those in charge," said Judge Frey. "It is about time that the courts and the public of this State are interested in that institution and are demanding that it be properly run."

"The defense which they make for the improper management of the institution is a curious one—that out of 238 boys and men whom I sentenced last year in this court, 11 (or 4 per cent) who were boys between the ages of 18 and 21, were sent to the reformatory."

"Evidently the management of that institution think that the courts should send no one to the institution, regardless of his youth, so that they will have nothing to do but draw their salaries. Of the large number of defendants whom I sentenced last year, many more should and would have been sent to the reformatory if it had been properly managed."

Only few of those who were sentenced to the reformatory were made to me to do this, but as I stated Tuesday and as I now reiterate, only in a few cases—11 out of the large number who were tried here—did I yield to the request and then will great misgiving. It will be noted too, that of the 11 cases, eight were sent before June 1—up to which time the conditions existing at the institution had not been fully revealed—and only three since then, these having been sent at the earnest request of the Circuit Attorney, who thought very properly that the boys involved ought not to be thrown in contact with the hardened prisoners in the penitentiary."

Section 12426 of the Revised Statutes of Missouri, 1920, provides that the Court may send from 17 to 30 years of age to the institution at Boonville. Those who were sentenced from this court were all between the ages of 18 and 21. According to the sworn statement made at the time, with one exception, Chester Geigle, who was 23 years of age, and whose wife was about to have a child at the time he was sentenced.

Cites Case of Youth Released. "It is a curious fact, too, that after Geigle was sent to the reformatory he had been there less than six months (I believe about three months) when he was seen on the streets of St. Louis and was operating a taxicab here. He had been released by the Boonville authorities without any recommendation whatever from this Court, and I understand that he is still here in St. Louis—in violation of the law and in violation of the terms of his sentence."

There are many false statements made in the so-called "defense" of the officers of this institution. Take, for example, the statement made that John Fitzgerald and Gold Pennington were sentenced to five years on grand larceny charges Dec. 15, 1925, and that their term was shortened to two years at the reformatory. This is a lie, and the man who made it must have known it was a lie at the time he made it. I have before me the files in that case which show clearly that these boys who were respectively 20 and 21 years of age, were sentenced to two years in open court, and that no change was ever made. Never has any sentence been commuted by me when a prisoner was at the station.

Commutation Procedure Legal. "Another statement made is that the defendants were first sentenced to the penitentiary and then their sentences commuted to Boonville. Under the terms of Section 12426, this is the procedure to be followed in all cases where the defendants are sent from the Circuit Court to Boonville. It is the uniform procedure that has been followed in the Circuit Court for years."

of approximately 13 cases from each division of the court in a whole year. When it is remembered that there are between 250 and 300 defendants sentenced each year from each of these courts, it will be readily seen that this is approximately 5 per cent of the total number of defendants.

Inmates Should Be Reformed. "I have no knowledge as to the procedure followed by the other courts, but I have no doubt that they are only sending young men from 18 to 23 to the institution. If these young men who are sent there were reformed and made better by those in charge of this institution instead of being released within a few months after their arrival and without any adequate training, there would be no cause to criticize the institution."

"I note that John Fitzgerald, one of the two boys above referred to, has been allowed to escape from the reformatory. I wonder where the officials of the reformatory were to allow a 20-year-old boy to get away after he has been there only a month or two. Perhaps this young man was allowed to disappear on the same basis that the Geigle boy was released."

I note that in a number of other cases the statement is made that some of these youths were sentenced for three years on robbery charges. That is also false, since the minimum sentence that can be imposed on a robbery charge is five years."

She Could Never Have Done It With Piles!

Bless the American girl who has glorified all the sports! She makes a pretty picture in the water, and is a plucky swimmer, too. Pile is an unthinkable for active women. If you have them, you ought to know this simple thing to do!

At any hour of moment that you have the least discomfort from piles, use a simple Pyramid pile suppository and go home with you. The worst hemorrhoids, even bleeding and badly protruding piles respond at once to the soothing suppository applied in perfect privacy. But bear the name in mind: Pyramid is the one every druggist has, usually the only one he will sell his patrons. Pyramid is a service. When you order another single half-hour with painful piles!

Sixty cents the box, the world around. But for prompt relief, painless relief will be sent those who write Pyramid Drug Co., 200 Pyramid Bldg., Marshall, Mich. 200

The Flavor
in Orange Juice—how to be sure of it

You want the true orange flavor in your orange juice, of course.

California Oranges are famous for it because California Oranges are rich in the soluble solids that determine flavor.

Tests show it, so this isn't just a claim. The proof for you is in the oranges themselves.

Buy them regularly and make special note of flavor every time. Whenever it's a California Orange the juice is full and rich.

Ask for Sunkist or Red Ball Navel Oranges and you'll get selected California fruit—seedless, tender, juicy, sweet.

Be sure to get these oranges and you'll always be sure to have the finest flavor in your orange juice.

mission merchant of 1923 Montgomery street, promised to bequeath his property in exchange for personal care during the last years of his life. Is the basis of a suit by his niece, Miss Ivy J. Fre-ker, on trial before a jury in Judge Roskopf's court.

Freker, a bachelor, died Feb.
3, 1924, without leaving a will, and under the law the niece is entitled to one-twelfth of his property. She asks for the entire estate, estimated at $30,000, claiming that she acted as Freker's housekeeper from Aug. 1, 1916, until his death, under the promise that he would leave his estate to her.

Miss Freker was forbidden to testify today on the motion of defense counsel, who pointed out that the other party to the alleged contract is dead.

NEW FRISCO CHIEF

FRED H. SHAFER.

CLERK OF 8 YEARS AGO MADE FRISCO MANAGER

Appointment Last Monday Culminates Rapid Rise of Fred H. Shaffer.

Fred H. Shaffer, who was a Frisco Railway transportation clerk here eight years ago, on small salary, has been appointed general manager of the road, in which position he is the active operating officer. The appointment was effective last Monday. He is 42 years old, a bachelor and has headquarters at Springfield, Mo.

Although it is a common thing for American railroad executives to rise from the lowliest jobs, it is unusual for one to advance as rapidly as Shaffer.

He was born in Mattoon, Ill., Sept. 20, 1882, and after completing a high school course he became a telegraph operator at Mattoon for the Big Four. He was promoted to be train dispatcher, then chief dispatcher, with full authority over the movement of trains and responsibility of lives and property.

In 1906 he went to the Santa Fe as train dispatcher. After rising to trainmaster he resigned in 1911 to become dispatcher with the Fort Worth & Denver Railway at Wichita Falls, Tex. Leaving that road in 1913, he came to St. Louis as transportation clerk for the Frisco.

Within a short time he was made transportation inspector and in less than two years was promoted to superintendent of the important Eastern division of the road. This division extends from St. Louis to Monett, Mo., and from Springfield to Kansas City.

On Feb. 1, 1925, he was advanced to the position of assistant general manager. In charge of the first operating district, comprising the Eastern, Southern and river divisions, extending into Alabama.
His promotion to the general management followed one year and 15 days later.

He succeeds J. H. Fraser, who is retiring because of ill health.

GREAT NORTHERN HEAD HERE
President Budd of Railroad Reports Progress on Cascade Tunnel.

Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern Railway Co., in St.
Louis yesterday, reported progress in the construction of the world's longest tunnel, a tube seven and three-fourths miles long through the Cascade Mountains on the Great Northern route. It has been under construction for three months and is planned for completion in three years.

INJUNCTION SUIT AGAINST STATE MARKETING LAW

50 Kansas City Dealers Say Measure Providing for Inspection of Books Is Unconstitutional.

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Feb. 18.—Fifty-nine hay and straw commission merchants here have brought an injunction suit in the Circuit Court against Forrest W. Hanna, County Prosecutor, and C. P. Anderson, State Marketing Commissioner, to prevent enforcement of the State law enacted by the last Legislature regulating commission merchants dealing in farm products.

This law provides that the commission merchant shall have a State license to do business, which costs $25, and that a bond of $2000 for covering consigned products be put up. It also invests authority in the State Marketing Commissioner to enter offices of commission merchants to make inspection of their books. A special method of bookkeeping is required. Penalty on conviction for violation is a fine of not less than $50 and not more than $500.

The hay merchants' petition holds that the law is unconstitutional, as it violates the unlawful search and seizure act or a confiscation of property without due process of law and also a Federal law regulating interstate business.

Woman's Fancy Chickens Stolen.
Chicken thieves visited the henhouse of Mrs. John Ludwig, 3308 St. Vincent street, last night, and stole all her poultry, 30 fancy each.

Why will you be burdened with superfluous flesh when thousands are daily getting relief?

Miss Nettie Young says: "I used 14 bars La-Mar Reducing Soap. I weighed 160 pounds at first and reduced to 142 pounds.
I just feel fine after taking a bath with La-Mar Reducing Soap."

La-Mar washes away fat. Results are quick. Nothing internal to take. Reduces every part of the body at will without affecting other parts. Shrinks the skin, leaving it free from flabbiness and cellu-

HEARING ON SOCCER CUP GAME PROTEST TRASNFERRED TO CLEVELAND

Millers Must Prove 'Lingers' Were Employed

Andrew Brown Named Investigator by Emergency Committee.

CONFESSIONS OBTAINED

Detroit Celtics Have Expelled Two Men for Playing With MacKenzie's.

No definite action was taken by the Emergency Cup Committee of the United States Football Association, meeting last night in New York, toward clarifying the disputed second round game between the Ben Millers of St. Louis and the Clan MacKenzie of Akron. The game has been protested by the Millers, who charged that two ineligible players were used.

The committee heard the evidence last night and empowered Secretary Andrew M. Brown to go to Cleveland next Sunday to hold an investigation and render a decision. The burden of proving the charges was placed upon the Ben Miller club and the team has been instructed to send a representative to the Cleveland meeting.

Foley Likely to Attend. It is probable that manager William Foley will represent the Ben Millers Sunday. Winton E. Barker, president of the St. Louis Soccer League, said today that he would request Foley to report to Andrew Brown for the purpose of presenting all the data in the hands of the St. Louis club.

The fact that both players, George Cruikshank and Matthew Thompson of the Detroit Celtics, have confessed to their club president that they played with the Clan MacKenzie under assumed names, which confessions resulted in the expulsion of the players from the Celtic roster, was brought to the attention of the Cup Committee by Barker. An effort will now be made to have the players examined in person by Andrew Brown at Cleveland before final action is taken. The penalty which will result if the charges are proved true is so heavy that every opportunity will be given the men to clear themselves.

Brown on the Millers. NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—If the Ben Millers P. C. can prove that the MacKenzie P. C. used George Cruikshank, a suspended player, and Matthew Thompson, who had already played for another club in the national challenge cup competition of the U. S. F. A. against them, under assumed names, the result of the game will be wiped out and the point awarded to the St. Louis team, who will thereby ease into the Western semifinals for the national soccer championship. Andrew M. Brown, secretary of the U. S. F. A., was last night empowered by the Cup Committee to go to Cleveland and there make an inquiry, which will be held Sunday, Feb. 21. Both teams have been notified to have representatives present, and Secretary Brown has summoned J. B. Steele of Akron, who refereed the game; Robert D. Butler, who was the U. S. F. A. delegate; William T. Angus, N. C. C. representative for Ohio, and players James Johnston and James Donaldson, whose names, it is charged, were used by the alleged players, have been summoned to appear.

Mr. Angus, who was asked to help in the investigation, reported that he tried to locate Cruikshank, but found he had moved to Detroit, Pa., since the game. Patterson Armstrong of Detroit, it is reported here, gave Thompson a hard struggle and finally gained an admission from him that he had taken part in the game.

THURBERG DEPARTS FOR HIS HOMETOWN

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Clas Thunberg of Finland, Olympic skating champion, departed for his hometown today. In his first few appearances in the United States his showing was poor, but recently he cut down American figures for several distances.

Horner Is Still Unbeaten in His Eastern Campaign

JACK HORNER

St. Louis Boxer Has Won Seven Fights, Four of Them Knockouts.

"Little" Jack Horner is the latest St. Louis fighter to show promise of winning a place in the outside fight world. Horner, a welterweight who built up a considerable reputation here in amateur circles, some months ago obtained a tryout in the string of Jimmy Bronson of Joplin, overseas referee and the man who brought out the interrelated champion, Bob Martin. Horner made good from the start and to the present time has fought seven times under Bronson's wing, winning all his fights, four of them by knockouts. His record follows:

EMPLOYMENT IN ILLINOIS

WELL AHEAD OF YEAR AGO

Outlook for Building Trades for Spring Work Encouraging in Most Cities.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—The employment situation in Illinois for the month of January generally was well ahead of a year ago, but in several downstate cities some agencies reported that the winter brought the largest demands upon them of any time in their experience, the review of the Illinois Department of Labor said today.

Cities showing gains in employment totals included Aurora, East St. Louis, Joliet, Moline, Rock Island, Peoria, Rockford and Springfield. Those which showed a slump in employment included Danville, Chicago, Quincy and Bloomington. There was little change in the situation in Decatur.

The outlook for the building trades for spring work was encouraging in most cities, the following figures for January permits being given: Aurora, $64,000; Bloomington, $57,000; Chicago, $18,500; Decatur, $184,000; East St. Louis, $57,000; Rock Island, $59,000; Moline, $17,000; Peoria, $33,000; Quincy, $41,000; Rockford, $16,000; Springfield, $155,000. All of these figures were for Springfield and Bloomington were smaller January totals than a year ago.

DISPUTES GERMAN CLAIM OF CANCER GERM DISCOVERY

American Specialist Says Word "Incredible" Is Written Across Face of It.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—Dr. George A. Soper, managing director of the American Association for the Control of Cancer, said today that to "qualified students of cancer" the announcement from Berlin that the cause of cancer has been found to be a large bacillus, shaped like the letter S has the word "incredible" written across the face of it. The discovery was accredited to Dr. Josef Schumacher, a German physician.

"For many years after bacteriology became a science," said Dr. Soper, "attempts were made to ascribe cancer to a bacillus, but without success. It is hardly possible that with all this research a large bacillus could have been overlooked."

MADISON POOLROOM ROBBER DIES IN DECATUR HOSPITAL

C. Arthur Baker of Charleston, Ill., who was shot Saturday night in a fight with police in a poolhall in Madison, died of his wounds yesterday at the Macon County Hospital at Decatur, Ill.

Baker was taken to the hospital by Manning Marietta of Carlinville, who Baker asked for help when he drove through that town in a bullet-riddled sedan after his flight from the holdup.

Marietta, who had been held for investigation, was released yesterday after Madison police had definitely established the truth of his statement that he had had no part in the robbery and had not known Baker prior to his appeal for help at Carlinville.

HOLDUP IN HISTORIC ALAMO

FAILS; TWO MEN CAPTURED
Both Trapped in Room Where Bowtie Was Killed Defending Building.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 15.—Two holdup men who selected the historic Alamo, shrine of Texas liberty, for the scene of their activities yesterday, were trapped in the southwest room, the same room where Bowie was killed defending the building in the historic fight against the Mexicans.

P. A. Paul of Oklahoma City and F. J. Boshardt of San Antonio were visiting relics in the southwest room when Mrs. A. F. Small, custodian, noticed the iron door close. She sent her 10-year-old daughter, Louise, to investigate. The robbers alarmed the door in the child's face but not until she had seen a revolver drawn.

"Quick, mother. It's a holdup," she shouted. Mrs. Small sent her daughter for a policeman and locked the door. A few minutes later police arrested the two men and recovered money and jewelry which had been taken from Paul and Boshardt.

MAPLEWOOD'S 400-POUND POLICEMAN LOSES HIS JOB

City Council Votes to Oust Adolph Fiedler for Lack of Discretion and Courtesy.

Adolph Fiedler of 7917 Folk avenue, Maplewood, 400-pound member of the Maplewood police force, was removed as special officer last night by vote of the City Council of Maplewood. F. P. Kasper, a member of the council, stated that Fiedler's removal was due to his lack of discretion and courtesy in the performance of duty.

A charge against Fiedler of contempt of court was dismissed Feb. 4, when he apologized for his previous conduct in creating a disturbance in the court of Justice Maag. Fiedler also was reprimanded when he called a defendant whom he had arrested on a speeding charge some names from the witness stand.

The council must confirm its decision next week before it becomes valid. Fiedler to a Post-Dispatch reporter said: "The council is prejudiced against me. They want an officer who will give the man an arrest a cream puff. Besides, they are Democrats and I am a Republican." Fiedler has already announced his candidacy for Justice Maag's office in the April primary.

TRADED ON PHANTOM WEALTH, GETS A YEAR IN WORKHOUSE

$11,112 Bank Entry Used by Man to Establish Credit Raised From $112, It Is Shown.

"You do not need to worry about getting your money," Ben Stowinski told Mrs. Walter Spokavski, 2210 South Third, street, when he rented a room at her home last summer. He displayed a passbook showing "$11,112" on deposit in bank.

With credit thus established, he borrowed $61 from his landlady. Then, at the end of seven weeks, he departed without paying rent or repaying the loan.

Yesterday he was brought before Judge Miller in the Court of Criminal Correction, charged with obtaining lodging by fraud, with obtaining lodging by fraud, with obtaining lodging by fraud.

An inspection of his passbook showed that he once had $11,112 in the bank, and that the amount had been altered to read "$11,112." Now he has nothing in the bank, and no home, either.

STRONG MAN FAKER TO PRISON

Exploited Fame of Late Sigmund Brethart by Impersonation.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Exploitation of the fame of the late Sigmund Brethart, professional strong man, by impersonating him after his death last year resulted yesterday in the sentencing of Julius Kaufman for forgery. Kaufman, of huge stature, was once a partner with Brethart on the vaudeville stage. Judge Allen sent him to Sing Sing for five to 10 years and directed that he be deported to Russia upon completion of his sentence.

He had toured the United States, giving exhibitions as a strong man, using Brethart's name. Seeking to capitalize Brethart's fame, Kaufman opened a night club in this city, forging a draft on the Bank of England and defrauding the Central Mercantile Bank of New York of $2000, which he used in furnishing the club.

Missionary Found Unharmed.
PEKING, Feb. 15.—A report dated Tuesday says that John Ely of the Lutheran United Missions at Sinyang, in Honan Province, has been found unharmed. Previous advices said that he had been made prisoner of the National People's Army on a charge of spying.

CHARLESTON BLAMED FOR GIRL'S DEATH

Evelyn Myers, 17-year-old high school senior of Seneca, Kan., whose death was attributed to dancing the Charleston too much, Dr. W. H. Boyer, who filled out the death certificate saying death was due to an illness induced by the Charleston, has advised the city to limit this dance. He suggested dancers not be permitted to do the Charleston more than twice during an evening.

COMPROMISE ON RETURN OF BEGGS SECURITIES REPORTED

Executors Offer to Restore $15,000,000 in Stocks and Bonds Removed From Wisconsin.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 18.—After a conference between County Judge Michael S. Sheridan and 14 attorneys representing various factions in the fight over the estate of the late John I. Beggs, multi-millionaire traction chief, it was reported last night that executors of the estate had offered to return $15,000,000 worth of securities removed to St. Louis from Wisconsin after death of the capitalist.

Details of the conference were withheld, but it was reliably reported that an effort was being made to bring about a compromise in the court fight over removal of the securities.

As a result of the conference, it was announced that opening of arguments on the motion of Neale H. Neelen, special administrator, to compel the executors to return the securities, which was scheduled for today, had been postponed one week. The securities were taken away by persons acting for Mrs. Richard McCulloch of St. Louis, daughter of Mr. Beggs.

When You Catch Cold Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply with the fingers and works right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, inflammation, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuritis, congestion, pain and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite—molds of all sorts.

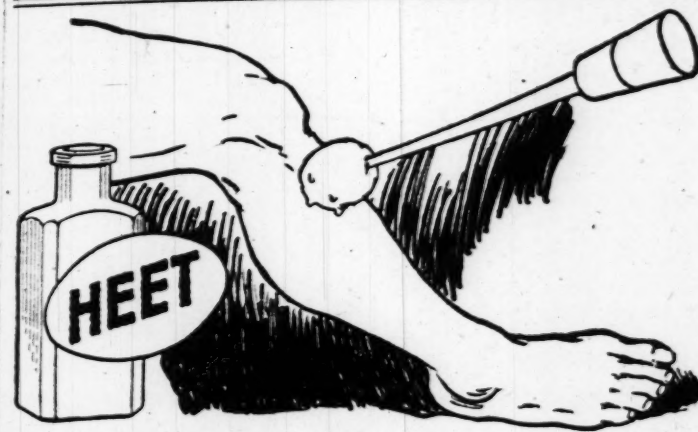

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for children's Musterole. Jars & Tubes

Announcing The Perfection of a "balanced" aspirin formula

Compounded not to depress the heart or upset the stomach

When you "take something" for headaches, colds, neuralgia, etc., are you sure you don't relieve one ailment just to take on another? For example, relieve a cold but depress your heart or upset your stomach doing so? For years doctors have known that sedatives such as aspirin and phenacetin have a tendency, when taken alone, to affect the heart or disturb the stomach.

It is just this situation that started a number of doctors, including a great heart specialist, on a long series of experiments about ten years ago.

The result of their work is a tablet called An-a-cin. An-a-cin is a balanced compound in which other well-known, proven medicines are used, which completely counteract the harmful effects of the sedatives. Thus An-a-cin relieves pain quickly but with no other perceptible effects on the system.

An-a-cin has stood up under 10 years of clinical test. On literally thousands of test cases, it has been privately prescribed by doctors for seven years. Today it is used by thousands of doctors, dentists, and hospitals because it can be administered freely without heart examinations or dangers to the stomach.

It is absolutely non-narcotic. Non-habit-forming. An-a-cin is safe for women to take at any time. May be safely administered to children from 2 years of age up. In a handy tin box at all drug stores. Be sure to get the name right.

Will Foo Husband Take Back?

He's in Love With Her She Is Deserted by Her Partner for Four Years

By Wilck.

WINIFRED

SO the man is going to my dislikes. Vain, ego, his wife back, after all, excited, shallow-hearted, says he isn't, but we know, he is. He talks about what does that man see and he thinks about her and he worries about her, and all the time he looks as if someone is going to die without her, and she is dying right before his eyes.

And he's such a nice fellow, so clever, so good-looking, so gallant, so generous and so kind. I don't see how he can be so good, and yet, he is so bad.

Oh, yes, she's pretty, and she's young, and she's a good girl, and she's a good wife, and she's a good mother, and she's a good friend, and she's a good neighbor, and she's a good citizen, and she's a good woman.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Charm.

THERE were charms, it was said, in the ancient days that a seeker might beg or buy, if he search without ceasing through Earth's far ways, if he wonder, now low and now high. There were subtle spells that the wise men knew, things to ward away envy and fear. There were sparkling philters a witch could brew that could win him a maiden dear. But the wonders of magic have passed away and man drinks of no strange draughts now that can cure all his pains and griefs aly, there's no amulet bound on his brow. All the charms that he asks are a darling heart and a soul that is unafraid, as he goes forth with gladness to play out his part, girt with freedom and undismayed.

and agonize until she is an old, old woman and crouches over the fire and mumbles to herself about the gay times that have gone?

You know what I would do if I were in his place? I would take my little boy and I would go away just as far as I could get and I would fear that silly, vain, cruel woman out of my heart once and for all.

It wouldn't be easy—but it is possible—and to my way of thinking it is the only way.

But, sisters, will you tell me the answer to the riddle? Why does a woman like that always find some fine man to love her and to protect her to the very last day of her selfish, silly life? Or is the man fine—really?

Is he just weak and self-indulgent and soft—ought we to admire him for his patience or laugh at him for his folly?

Avoid Poorly-Balanced Breakfasts

Quaker Oats supplies excellent "food balance"

IF you feel tired, hungry, "fidgety," hours before lunch, don't jump to the conclusion of poor health. You may have unenergetic mornings because your breakfast lacks certain important food elements.

To feel right, you must have a well-balanced, complete breakfast ration. At most other meals—lunch and dinner—you get it. But breakfast is a hurried meal, often badly chosen.

Thus Quaker Oats, containing 16% protein, food's great tissue builder, 58% carbohydrate, its great energy element, plus all-important vitamins and the "bulk" that makes laxatives seldom needed, is the dietetic urge of the world today.

It is food that "stands by" you through the morning. Quick Quaker cooks in 3 to 5 minutes. That's faster than plain toast. Don't deny yourself the natural stimulation this rich food offers you.

Feb. 18, 1478—448 years ago—George, Duke of Clarence, condemned to die, is given his choice of execution. Edward IV, haunted by the fear of an old prophecy that he would be murdered by one whose name began with "G," ordered the execution of his brother, George, but generously allowed him to choose the manner of death. The Duke, being bibulously inclined, chose to be drowned in a butt of Malmsey wine, whereupon he became popularly known as the Duke of Malmsey.

Peter Rabbit Is Cross

Jokes are jokes, somehow or other, Only when they're on another.

—Mr. Mocker.

PETER RABBIT was excited. It was a long time since he had been so excited. He was so excited he couldn't keep still. He knew that the safest place for him at that time of day was in the bramble tangle on the edge of the Green Forest where he was then sitting. But he couldn't stay there. He just couldn't stay there, and that was all there was to it. Can you guess why? Well, over in the Old Orchard toward Farmer Brown's house a voice—a cheery voice—was singing "Cheer-up, cheer-up, cheer-up, cheer!" It was Welcome Robin's spring greeting. Do you wonder that Peter couldn't keep still?

Never had Welcome Robin returned from the Sunny South quite so early. At least, Peter couldn't remember that he ever had. It must mean that sweet Mistress Spring was on her way and would arrive extra early. Peter thrilled all over as he listened to that "Cheer-up, cheer-up, cheer-up, cheer!" How good it would be to have gentle Sister Southwind sweep away all the snow, and how very, very good it would be to have tender, green things to eat once more. Do you wonder that Peter thrilled all over as he listened?

But listening wasn't enough. He must see Welcome Robin. Yes, sir, he must see Welcome Robin. He wanted to be the very first one to see Welcome Robin. So, though he knew it was a foolish thing to do, Peter left the safety of the bramble tangle and scampered up through the Old Orchard, lipperty-lipperty-up, as fast as his legs could take him. He did hope that Welcome Robin would not fly away before he got there.

Looking up as he ran, Peter finally saw a bird on the tip-top twig of an apple tree. It was just the place that Welcome Robin would choose. When he first arrives he always delights in sitting in the top of a tree while he sends his message of cheer to all who will listen. "There he is!" exclaimed Peter under his breath, and ran faster.

"Is Welcome Robin here," he asked

When he got directly beneath the tree and looked up he saw only Mocker the Mocking Bird looking down at him. "Where's Welcome Robin?" gasped Peter, quite out of breath.

Mocker pretended to be surprised. "Is Welcome Robin here?" he exclaimed. "I haven't seen him."

"Of course, he is here!" exclaimed Peter. "He was right over here a few minutes ago. If you haven't seen him, you must have heard him, or else there is something wrong with your hearing."

"I haven't seen him and I haven't heard him," said Mocker. "That's funny. I've been here all the time."

Peter sat down and stared up at Mocker. "You've been here all the time and mean to tell me that you didn't hear Welcome Robin?"

"Yes," said Mocker, "I've been here all the time and I didn't hear Welcome Robin. But never mind, Peter, let me say to you what Welcome Robin would say if he were here: 'Cheer-up, cheer-up, cheer-up, cheer!'"

Peter almost fell over backward in his surprise. It was Welcome Robin's voice, but it was coming from the mouth of Mocker the Mocking Bird. Then Mocker began to laugh—how he did laugh! Peter grew angry. He grew very, very angry. He didn't like having a joke played on him. He quite forgot that only a short time before he had said that he couldn't understand why any one should be angry over a joke which wasn't a bad joke. He had said that he didn't mind having a joke played on him, and now he was so angry that he stamped his feet at Mocker, and Mocker laughed harder than ever.

ROBBER SLAIN WHEN TRYING TO HOLD UP DETECTIVES

East St. Louis Officers in Restaurant Where They Stop Daily at 1 A. M. When Man Enters.

PART OWNER OF STAND WOUNDED

Body, Containing Eight Bullets, Identified as That of Frank Larkin, Meat Plant Worker.

A man who held up five men at 1 a. m. today, did not know that two of them were city detectives. Realization came too late when his automatic jammed as the detectives opened fire. He was riddled with bullets and died almost instantly.

Later the body was identified as that of Frank Larkin, 34 years old, who had been rooming at 3811A Easton avenue and working for the Key Packing Co.

The scene of the shooting was a restaurant at 400 North Third street, operated by Nick Collas and George Naks. The latter was shot in the left shoulder by the robber before the detectives began firing.

Detectives in Place.

The situation into which the unexpected robber walked came about as the result of the call of Detective Jacob Werner at Joseph Smith, night rider, stopping at the restaurant. Just before closing time at 1 a. m., to telephone the police station.

This morning, after they had left the call, they stopped for a moment at the stove to warm themselves. Smith sat on the edge of a restaurant booth with his back to the door and his feet in the fire, while Werner stood in the door chatting with Naks. Naks and a customer who was in the place.

As they talked the front door opened and a tall man, carrying a black muffer in his left hand, slammed it against the wind and whirled toward the men at the stove.

Eight Bullets Enter Body.

Werner threw back his coat and reached for his revolver. The robber fired twice. One shot hit Werner in the chest, the other hit the shoulder and knocked him to the floor.

In the booth, with his back still to the door, Detective Smith had drawn his revolver. He leaped to the defense. The intruder, who was the first bullet struck Werner and dropped his pistol. He fired a few steps toward the detectives and fell as they continued firing. He had been shot three times in the chest, twice in the right arm and once in the left leg, left side and left hip. The detective had fired five shots each, while two bullets missing their mark.

A letter in the robber's pocket led to identification. It was addressed to "Frank Larkin, care of Mueller, 3746 Lucky street." Larkin was from his wife, who, with a year-old son, resides in Birmingham, Ala., where Larkin formerly lived. Mueller, after identifying the body, said Larkin had spent three days at his home about four months ago, having been introduced by a brother, Daniel Larkin, of Memphis.

At 221 South Broadway the robber's father, Frank Larkin Sr., said he had not seen his son for several weeks. Three sisters and Larkin resided in East St. Louis. Larkin was 6 feet 2 inches tall and weighed 190 pounds. A tattooed eagle on his left forearm included the initials "L." On the right forearm were tattooed figures of a woman and a man.
